Every member of the Milestones staff feels that the Ward-Belmont seal is a living and enduring symbol of the day-by-day activities that take place on this campus. Since it is our aim to picture Ward-Belmont life, we have embodied the seal in our book; and we hope in this way to reveal its true significance to you. The 1939 Milestones pictures each student working, playing and living on the Ward-Belmont campus. What have you accomplished this year? PRESIDENT ANDREW B. BENEDICT

Because his unfailing interest in each girl makes him an ever-loved personality, and his deep friendship extends beyond his position as President.
Administration
MR. ANDREW B. BENEDICT

Ward-Belmont is fortunate to have such an exceptional man as Mr. A. B. Benedict for its president. As the central figure in Ward-Belmont's life, he not only attends to the various duties of the chief executive, but also takes real part in all the campus activities. Besides presiding at the birthday dinners, cheering at the hockey and basketball games, and attending the social activities of the campus, Mr. Benedict, in his office in "Big Ac," welcomes any student for a conference concerning her school problems.
MISS EMMA I. SISSON

Always cordially ready to welcome girls into her office, Miss Sisson holds the place of an interested adviser to the girls of Ward-Belmont. She is found at every extracurricular activity. A poised and lovely hostess, she presides over birthday dinners and banquets; an enthusiastic sportswoman, she judges the horse show; an interested spectator, she is attendant at all athletic competitions. On pleasant free afternoons she can usually be found in the vicinity of the golf course.
DR. JOSEPH E. BURK

Dean Burk is known to each girl on the campus not only because of his official academic position, but also because of his remarkable sense of humor. He merits recognition as an amusing chapel speaker, an enthusiastic spectator at athletic events, and a well known and really outstanding educator. Always sympathetic to the problems of the girls, he is an efficient and kindly adviser. For these and other reasons, Dean Burk has become a vital force on the campus and among prominent educators throughout the South.
MISS ANNIE C. ALLISON

Often seen about the campus, though seldom met officially by the college students, Miss Allison, Principal of the High School, is affectionately known to each of her girls as "Miss Annie." Gracious and charming, she succeeds in carrying out the ideals of the school with gentle dignity. She knows the girls by name and her interest centers about their activities on campus, as well as their scholastic achievements.
Miss Paine, who has recently resumed her position as a member of the administration, has quickly won the affectionate esteem of each girl. As registrar she saw many of us before we were regularly enrolled students and she has since continued her interest in each of our activities. Miss Paine not only keeps in close contact with our parents, but also acts as adviser and friend to us, "her girls."

College Boarding Student Council

Ward-Belmont School provides its students with powers of self-government. Everyone recognizes the fact that this campus-elected body of girls is trying to help each student obey the rules and regulations which are essential to any community. This council presents and discusses the rules and privileges for the advanced groups.

This representative group is composed of girls from each college unit. To be elected to serve on the council is one of the highest honors the school can bestow on her students. This honor carries with it a certain recognition of the fact that the chosen girl is dependable and responsible in order to merit such a position. With an efficient governing body the school will be assured of honor students.

Day Student Council

"Hear ye! Hear ye! Hear ye! This council will now come to order." Yes, that's Jane Chadwell, college senior, presiding. She and her council meet every Tuesday after lunch with their sponsor, Miss Mary Elizabeth Cayce, to try, acquit, or sentence the day students of both the high school and boarding groups. Of course it isn't as serious as it sounds. If you notice this group of girls out on the campus you would think they were just several pretty young sub-debs without a care in the world, but when they enter that Faculty Consultation Room they're in dead earnest about campus government and keeping the day students on the "straight and narrow." And now that we have settled that case, council is adjourned for the day.

High School Boarding Student Council

Headed by Elizabeth Gridley, the High School Boarding Student Council is a very recent organization on the campus, having been started during this school year. Being elected to serve their fellow students on this council is the highest tribute that can be paid to a girl by her classmates. She is fulfilling a position of honor and trust, and is constantly an example of behavior to her fellow classmen.

The High School Council was originated for the purpose of giving the high school girls their own self-government. It was felt that these girls could treat their own problems more satisfactorily than a group that did not come into close contact with them. It has served as another means to make the distinction between college and high school girls clearer and more understandable.

Y. W. C. A.

Of primary importance to every boarding student at Ward-Belmont is the Y. W. C. A. It is concerned with the friendships which are developed between the girls themselves and a realization of a finer, higher spirit. Every Sunday evening the "Y" takes charge of the devotional services at Vespers and introduces local speakers. Under the direction of this body, a speaker from each hall has charge of weekly open discussion, and in these meetings the students express their viewpoints on serious questions.

The many different committees of the "Y" provide a number of activities for every girl, since various kinds of work are carried on by each committee. At the beginning of school, as well as all through the year, the "Y" sponsors civic tours to acquaint the students with their foster city.

Those girls rushing around the campus with pencil, scratch pad, and a frantic look in their eyes are none other than the Hyphen reporters out on an assignment run. Thursday is "Press Day" and the Phillips Twins are kept busy that afternoon looking for the reporters who might dare to be late with an article. After the brown paper "dummy" has been laid out by editor "Junior" Rushton and most of the work proof-read and placed, ready for the headline writers to begin counting letters and spaces, then it's time for someone to suggest that part of the tearoom goodies be transported to the Hyphen Office. Oh, the paper is loads of work, but ever so much fun! If anyone doubts that just pass by the open door of the office Thursday. After a trip of the staff to the printers in the station wagon and another thorough proof-reading, "The Ward-Belmont Hyphen" is found in the boxes Wednesday after chapel. Pictures, news stories, features, editorials, and columns—it's all our paper!

Milestones

At the close of every year the girls begin to note the pleasant and memorable incidents that mark their year in school. The purpose of the MILESTONES is to preserve the history of Ward-Belmont for the school year 1938-39 in the annals of literature. This year the staff gives the student body a snappy modern book, full of club, sport, and scholastic activities, plus many snapshots of the playtime and fun here. Putting together the record of the year isn't all play, but the kind of work which makes everyone roll up her sleeves and pitch into the stacks of pictures to be identified, copy to be written, layouts to be planned, and "dummy" to be carefully constructed. Even the dignified editor, Marion Dredla, has all but lost her mind. Every girl on the campus helps to make up this book, and since there are many different personalities here, the annual could hardly miss being different, vivid, and interesting to everyone. It is your own book, because you helped create a part of the school year which is recorded.

Chimes

What is it that appears in your mailbox three times during the school year? You've guessed it—"Chimes"! Did you notice that attractive cover, but wait, the best surprises are inside: short stories, poems, and the best campus essays. Every feature is irresistible. You soon find who the up-and-coming \textit{literati} are, and you will proudly say, "Oh, I know her; we are in class together." The "Chimes" reflects the personalities of its able staff and has that extra dash à la Banigan. Chimes isn't just any magazine, for it represents the charms and talents of every girl on the campus, who cares to make worthwhile contributions, from the Freshmen in high school to the lofty college Seniors.

Departmental Clubs
French Club

One evening during each month French students mentally travel across the Atlantic and truly become "French Ladies." Anyone who casually dropped in on this group would undoubtedly think that he was in some typical French quarter. The members, in playing bridge, do their bidding in French; they sing the country's folk songs and French games. The entertainment varies from the observance of customs to storytelling in French.

These students have the opportunity of applying the knowledge which they acquire in the classroom to practical use. The members are students who have spent at least a half year or more in the study of French.

Spanish Club

If those unfamiliar sounds, which are quite often heard coming from club village were investigated, it would be found that they are made by a group of would-be Spanish conversationalists, or perhaps they should be called "Senioritas," who meet once a month to study and enjoy a better knowledge of the background that accompanies their more serious classroom subject. Interesting historic anecdotes are given which furnish outside interest to the study of the Spanish language. Many unusual meetings were planned for the pleasure of the students this year such as: motion pictures, charades, group singing of Spanish folk songs, and a Christmas dinner.

Turf and Tanbark Club

Since riding is one of the most popular and outstanding sports at Ward-Belmont, it is fitting and natural that a club should be organized for the riding students. The purpose of this club is to emphasize good sportsmanship and to bring about a better understanding of horses.

The activities of the club are numerous. In the fall, it sponsors the horse show in which all the riding students of the school take part. The annual trip to the International Horse Show in Chicago is one of the outstanding entertainments offered to the members, and the Kentucky Derby is usually seen by a large number of Ward-Belmont girls.

Membership in the Turf and Tanbark Club is an accomplishment for anyone. All the students who are enrolled in the certificate riding classes are eligible, but from this group the most outstanding girls in sportsmanship are chosen by the senior club members. This year there are eighteen members in the club.

Art Club

Have you passed by the Art Studio lately and noticed the girls squinting at a pretty model on the stand and sketching like mad? Those students are the ones who make up the Art Club which is famous for its lovely annual tea, and the sculpture and art exhibits that it sponsors. These girls and a number of honorary members meet once a month to hear lectures on subjects related to art; they speak personally with famous designers and wood carvers; they are privileged to hear musical programs and entertainment pertaining to all the fine arts. Miss Shackelford, sponsor, and Beverly Pickup, president, plan the programs carefully so that we can say it's a club that studies and enjoys the artistic.

Mathematics Club

Maybe some Math Clubs in the United States sit around and discuss formulas, equations, and hypotheses, but not the club here at Ward-Belmont! It has been organized for the purpose of creating a better understanding of Math problems as they are applied to our everyday life. Chess, bridge, and penny-pitching games have shown up the law of chance and probability in their everyday aspects. Why, since the meetings of this club have become so well attended and popular it has been said that Mary Louise Breazeale, Sarah Wilhite, and Alice Berry Young have become really scientific bridge players.

Penstaff Club

Every other Wednesday during the year is red letter day for a number of high school girls. On that day the members of Penstaff meet to read and criticize themes written by the young authors themselves.

Membership in Penstaff is considered an honor and an achievement. The number in the group is limited and the personnel is chosen by a contest held in the fall. Because entrance into the organization is purely on a competitive basis, it is truly a privilege to be elected.

Mrs. Souby is sponsor of the club and one of its most enthusiastic members, for she thoroughly enjoys the work and encourages the girls in their creative writing.

Many of the meetings are held in the homes of day student members, while a few times the boarders have been the hostesses on the campus. During the winter the Club made a trip through the new Banner-Tennessean plant to see just what makes the wheels go round in the printing business.

Glee Club

For the girls who are interested in music the Glee Club offers many entertaining and profitable hours. Not only those who are studying music as a part of their academic work are encouraged to join this group, but anyone who is a lover of music is invited into the club. The Glee Club meets twice a week and the members are required to devote an hour and a half to rehearsal for the special concerts which the club presents. This year two concerts have been given; the first was given before Christmas and was composed of Noel music; the spring concert was given early in May.

Mr. Dalton, director of the club, also works with the choir. He is to be commended for the success with which every venture of these two groups has met.

Captivators

What lends that extra zest to Thursday evening dinner and gives us all an itching foot?—Why, the Captivators! This modern swing band made up of students really puts pep into the girls and makes "jitterbugs" of the students and even the faculty. That Pierce-Shofner two piano team is super-special, and when Shofner sings we forget our worries and even our assignments. Then there are two others who add their bit, for Lois McCann lends her lovely voice and Miss Falvey has been known to slap a mean bass. During April members of the Captivators sponsored a script dance in the Gym to add to the financial standing of their exchequer, so that the very newest hit-songs could be purchased to finish out this year, and that there would be money enough to begin next year with those special swing ditties made popular during the summer.

Orchestra

To the classical audiences of Ward-Belmont School, Mr. Rose, directing the Ward-Belmont Orchestra, gives an annual concert which is received with enthusiasm by members of the musical circle at the school and in Nashville. Since its reputation is established, the orchestra offers to each girl entertainment and hours of music appreciation and enjoyment. With only three hours of directed practice each week, Mr. Rose accomplishes a great deal in this enthusiastic group.

Besides the work with the larger group, Mr. Rose chooses several students from the personnel of the orchestra to form small musical ensembles. These students find that it is both pleasant and beneficial to carry on such extracurricular activities.

The annual symphony orchestra concert was given this year on April 6 in the Ward-Belmont Auditorium. Mrs. Mathilde Weaver Duke, violin soloist, presented Concerto G Minor by Bruch, while the program of the orchestra ranged from such selections as Beethoven’s Symphony No. 2, D Major to lighter numbers like Tchaikowsky’s Nutcracker Suite.

German Club

This club provides the German students with a less formal study of the language. Once a month the girls meet to sing folk songs and discuss folklore, as well as to talk of the lives of famous Germans. They have followed current affairs in Germany and studied Hitler and his activities. Conversation during the evening is carried on entirely in German.

Latin Club

Even though this is one of the most recently organized groups on the campus, it has taken its place among the important departmental clubs. Winners in the district and state-wide Latin Tournament can claim this as their own organization; for Nancy Stone, Mildred Stahlman, and Ann Elizabeth McCarley are all members of the Ward-Belmont Latin Club.
Expression

Miss Pauline Sherwood Townsend has established one of the best expression departments found anywhere in a junior college. Working with her, is Miss Catherine Winnie, who teaches the fundamental principles of speech and speech art. Two outstanding programs have been presented by this department in the form of the Christmas play and the Easter pageant. Besides these, the students who are earning a certificate, the accomplishment of two years of work in expression, have given a Shakespearean drama, "As You Like It," on April 27.

Home Economics

Those appetizing odors are coming from the Home Economics building. Here the future homemakers gather to learn the fundamentals of cooking, and probably experiment a little on the side. And as to the good things they can stir up, just ask anyone whose roommate takes cooking.

Thinking of Home Economics, we naturally think of sewing. The student designers can easily be recognized by their snappy getups. There are many would-be Schaperellis on our campus and in the May Style Show these girls certainly covered themselves with glory.
With Janie Phillips as president for 1938-39, one of the most active groups on campus is the Athletic Association. This organization has two main purposes: to promote good sportsmanship, and to interest the students in all types of athletics. When the membership campaign opens in the early fall, all girls on the campus are eligible to join; however, the association is divided into two groups, the active members and the participating members. An active member is a girl who has made a varsity or has earned the required number of points by playing on club teams. The participating members are those who belong to the association, but who take no active part in its government or projects.

This association draws the students closer together on field and range and aids in making the Ward-Belmont girl a more all-round person. The Athletic Association keeps on its toes and is especially noted for its entertaining parties and unusual dances, as well as its promotion of a friendly spirit of rivalry in athletic endeavors.
A hundred and sixty tennis hopefuls entered the Ward-Belmont singles tournament this fall. The whole campus was infected with tennis fever. The tournament progressed rapidly to the semifinals leaving Smith, Kinney, Sedwitz, and E. Ragland undefeated. All of these gained their much-coveted berths by victories in hard-fought, evenly-matched games.

The semifinal match between Charlotte Kinney and Marie Smith was the high light of the tourney. Each girl, at her best, made every stroke count. The slow and deliberate playing of both was broken by many placement shots low over the net to each other's backhand. Kinney took the first set 6-3, but Smith rallied from behind to take the second 7-5. The last set was the most exciting of the entire tournament. However, Smith's steady game finally won over Kinney's powerful serves and forehand strokes, 6-4. The final match score was 3-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Sedwitz and E. Ragland were very evenly matched. Both displayed tennis at its best. The scores of the first two sets were 6-3, 3-6, in which the players had each won nine games. The last set was one of high tension, but Sedwitz, with a final burst of energy, won the victory, taking the set 8-6. The match score was 6-3, 3-6, 8-6.

As a fitting climax for a tournament of tennis playing "par excellence," Marie Smith was victor over Peggy Sedwitz by a score of 6-3, 6-1. Smith played a steady, driving, forceful game, while Sedwitz played spasmodically brilliant tennis.

The doubles tournament, which came this spring, climaxed the year. Two complete brackets, one high school and the other college, played off matches until the finalists in each bracket were left. In the championship match Smith and Ragland defeated Rye and Zerfoss 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

"Ready—Serve" sounds from all the courts as real tennis battles take place between Kinney, Sedwitz, Smith, and others.
Hockey

Dots! Dashes! and lots of flashes from here and there about Ward-Belmont, bringing you the scores of the hockey finals. Two hockey teams came through this season unscored on: the A. K.'s and the Eccowasins. The muddy field caused by heavy rains during the previous week only slightly hindered the two teams when they met for their final battle. Both groups were rather nervous and acted slowly at the beginning, but they soon warmed up and "really played the game." Despite the hard fighting of both teams, each was able to make but one score; the game ended in a one to one tie. This game climaxed a series of ties in the tournament in which the Del Vers and the Angkors were eliminated after winning their first two games.

The Phillips twins excited the spectators by their excellent teamwork. Janie ran interference for Mary Jo, who tore down the field in a fifty-yard dash to make the A. K.'s score first. The twins continued this unusual playing and threatened the goal several times, but never quite succeeded in crossing the line again. The A. K. backfield was outstanding in curbing the opposing forwards and intercepting passes. Virginia Love Graves tied the score in the first part of the second half. She and Keith Glasgow were by far the most valuable players for the Eccowasins. As the tie was not played off, each club will keep the hockey cup for one semester.

Hockey season is great fun, both for players and spectators, since every club has a team.

Only three teams failed to score during the entire tournament. Many exceptional players were chosen from the entire campus, both day students and boarders, to make up the College and High School Varsity.

The curtain rang down March 4 on one of the most exciting inter-club basketball seasons in Ward-Belmont history, when the signal sounded ending the twenty-sixth annual tournament. The closing blast from the timer's horn marked the finish of a hard-fought final game. The Aristons eked out a victory over the scrapping Angkors—20 to 18. The two teams, as the margin of victory shows, were very evenly matched. The game was one of the high lights of the tourney, exhibiting the ambition and determination of each club to win. Marie Smith, Angkor, led the individual scoring by hitting the goal for ten points in one quarter. Chadwell and Zerfoss, both holding guard berths, were the outstanding players for the Aristons.

Several really exciting games were played off during the tournament. The Penta Tau's and Eccowasin's played a well-matched game, with the Eccowasin's winning. Both teams showed ability and plenty of spirit. Betsy Jones, center guard for the Penta Tau's, was exceptionally good and the forward line-ups were outstanding. This game ended in a 14-12 victory for the Eccowasin's team.

Another interesting game, with all the scoring done in the first half, was the one in which the A. K.'s eked out a slim win over the fighting Penta Tau's. Mary Jo Phillips and Peggy Sedwitz played good games as guard for the winners while checking the shots of Shirley Jones and Betty Stevens, of the Penta Tau's. With a little more teamwork, Allison Hearne might have made the score higher for the A. K.'s, but Rushton and Lungstras, of the Penta Tau team, prevented that.

It was a goal!

That's what runs up the score.

After a week of play, three of the original field of thirteen teams remained undefeated—Tri K.'s, Angkors, and Aristons. All three of the seeded teams were defeated in play, so this was a tournament of sensational upsets.

The Triad-Agora combat was the game that exhibited the most spectacular goal shooting of the season. Carter and Allen led the Triad attack with their crisp and push shots clicking to perfection. Moore, with her pivoting and passing, starred for the Agoras.

This was a tourney of fighting teams, each battling for every point, with such stars as Gorman, Roberts, Hickerson and Kinney leading the attack. Without a doubt this has been an exceptional season for players and boosting fans.

The Senior-Senior Middle annual battle heaped laurels on both classes. The Seniors, setting a terrific pace, played sensational basketball, defeating the fighting Senior Middle team 41-26. Despite the tight guarding of Champion and Brayton, Smith and Carter sank baskets from almost every position on the floor. This game was a fitting finale to the basketball season.

A coveted place on the college varsity was won this year by three girls who had to their credit a varsity letter in the same sport from last year. Charlotte Kinney and Marjorie Carter as forwards, and Mary Wallace Austin as guard, were the fortunate girls who received silver basket balls for this signal honor.
“Up, Down! Up, Down!” is almost a chant in Miss Nance’s vocabulary. She teaches the beginning riders by these most expressive orders. The beginners classes are much larger than usual this year, which makes the future crop of riders very promising. Nine students, Jarvis, Drew, Stacy, Luhring, Blount, Brower, Breazeale, Lindfors, and Halat, are working for their certificates. It’s really work, not play, unless the girls feel that arising at five in the morning and trudging sleepily to the stables to arouse the horses with a cheery “Good Morning” is the ideal way of beginning a perfect day. However, there is value in this seemingly senseless week’s routine, for these excellent horsewomen must know the proper way to care for their horses if they are to be interested horse owners in the future. The real emphasis is on perfect form and management in every type of riding.

The Turf and Tanbark Club, whose members are chosen for their ability, sponsored a horse show in November. This show marked the climax of the fall season. Miss Sisson was ably assisted by Alice Mary Drew and Peggy Brower, members of the club, in judging the various classes. Helen Luhring, Allison Hearne, Mary Byrd, Jeannette Weeks, Claire Manford, and Marian Ryan—Frances Farwell in the pair class, won first places in their divisions. The X. L. Club had the highest total number of points for the entire show and was presented the cup by the president of the Turf and Tanbark Club, Frances Lindfors.

During the winter months the horses are taken to the Lealand Stables, and on suitable days Miss Nance conducts road rides for her pupils. With the first signs of spring the riding classes are started in the campus riding ring. Jumping, form and management, in both three- and five-gaited work, is emphasized in these classes, for the students are preparing themselves for the big horse show of the year. After hours of walking, galloping, trotting, and cantering the big day arrives when every student is turned out in her best habit. The show, on May 4 and 5 this year, was sponsored by Ward-Belmont School, and was judged by Miss Jane Carling. The awards were presented by Mr. Benedict. Every type of riding is exhibited and the girls star in beginning jumping, advanced jumping, five-gaited combination class, management class, three-gaited intermediate and advanced classes, and in the pair class. To select the very best Ward-Belmont rider, the winners in the four advanced classes ride again, and the most outstanding one of these excellent riders is chosen. Two awards are presented, one to the best rider and the other to the club with the most points for the entire show. This year Peggy Brower won the title of best rider, and the T. C. Club was presented the riding cup.

Anyone walking toward Club Village, who is unfamiliar with the campus, might be a little surprised at hearing the strains of some popular dance piece drifting through the air from somewhere overhead. This lively music is usually accompanied by the taps of many feet, which discloses the source of the musical strains—the dancing studio.

Every girl at Ward-Belmont is encouraged to take some type of dancing. Not only tap, but also ballet, toe, and modern work is offered to everyone. The students are among the most popular entertainers on the campus. Therefore, at the important formal dinners such as Halloween, Washington's Birthday, and St. Patrick's Day, they dance a witches' frolic, a patriot's parade, or an Irish jig. Besides the special days, the club parties, and various organization requests, the department presents several recitals during the year. The most outstanding performance of 1939 was Elizabeth Hobbie's diploma recital. She exhibited not only really fine dancing, but showed originality by designing her costumes and creating a dance herself. Other certificate and advanced students helped "Tip" in several of the numbers—Jeanne Ferrell, Le Yonne Phillips, and Marjorie Cogburn really tapped; Betty and Ann Walker gave a fine exhibition of toe and ballet; Charlotte Kinney and Margery Lawrence displayed good work in the modern number.

May Day, in which every girl in school does her bit, displays the work of the dance department. Around this time Miss Mary Elizabeth Delaney, the dance instructor, practically eats costumes, dreams dances, and lives in her studio.

"Tip" Hobbie deserves all those flowers after her Dance Diploma Recital.

Knowing about various types of dancing is part of Elizabeth Hobbie's work in getting her diploma. All the certificate students assisted in her recital.

Bowling, in the last few years, has become very popular here at Ward-Belmont. This year many girls, who had never bowled before, crowded the alleys to take advantage of the opportunity to learn the technique of making one ball upset all ten pins at once.

Every club enters four girls in the annual bowling tournament. At the end of the third round of the play-off the Del Vers were several jumps ahead of all the other clubs, with the Osirons, Triads and X. L.'s right at their heels in second, third, and fourth places, respectively. Since only the four clubs having the highest total scores from the three previous rounds compete in the next and last round, these four teams advanced to the finals. Amid the banging, roaring, and tumbling pins the bowling tournament closed with the Del Vers still on top. Their total score was 2,006, which was almost 150 points higher than the highest score last year. The Osirons bowled a score of 1,800 for the entire tournament and claimed second place, with the X. L.'s in third place carrying a score of 1,791.

Among the individual scorers who piled up points were Elsie Jane Knapp, an X. L., with the highest score for a single game of the tourney, 165; Mary James, also an X. L., placed second with 158; Marie Lackey missed second place by one point to snatch third with 157. In the first round Nancy Doherty of the victorious Del Vers team was outstanding with a score of 153. Ruth Lund knocked the pins flying for a 144 in the second round, helping Osirons into their threatening position. Several day students, Angeline Tillman, Katy Heitzeberg, and Edna Mae Ziegler, were consistently high scorers throughout the bowling season.

The first and second varsities were composed of the girls who had made the highest scores throughout the bowling tournament.
Swimming

Wet hair, chapped faces, and often weary muscles characterize Ward-Belmont swimmers. Every girl in school must be able to swim at least the length of the pool and back in some fashion, even doggie style will do. For those who are unable to authorize, beginning swimming classes are held. In these classes the fear of the water is overcome and students are taught the crawl, side stroke, breast stroke, and backstroke. Classes in diving and advanced swimming are also offered to any girl interested in improving her style. This is one sport that has a very real carry-over value into later life, and many students take advantage of the opportunity to become excellent swimmers.

Open swimming periods are held three or four times a week, and it is then that the true lovers of the sport can splash and duck about to their heart's delight. A number of the more expert swimmers have passed their life-saving tests this year. On the third of March, the annual Ward-Belmont swimming meet was held, in which the various clubs competed for the swimming cup. The most exciting event of the meet was the four-girl 200-yard relay race, which demonstrated both technique and form. Individual honors went to Martha Jane Eustis, who gained more points than anyone else in the meet, and was the one who boosted the Tri K Club's score into first place. Frances Farwell, an X. L., was the second highest scorer, and Phoebe Douglass, an Eccowasin, won first place in the diving events. The T. C. Club came in second in the final scoring, and the X. L.'s third.
"Fore! Fore!" echoes across the golf range when spring classes begin. The newcomers, who are not so sure of their aim, warn everyone within striking distance to dodge golf balls. Besides these beginning classes, where the students learn the names and uses of the various clubs, there are two advanced classes who play on the Percy Warner Golf Course once each week, during the term. These girls are more or less experts, and their scores hover near par.

Fencing

If you should see a girl hidden behind a mask and plastron with a foil in her hand, don't run away. It is only one of the fencing students about to call "En garde." Miss Sehmann, who is an excellent fencer herself, teaches the Ward-Belmont girls this womanly art of self-defense. Skill is developed only through hours of practice, so the true lovers of the sport can be found in the gym during many of their free hours.
Spring weather, spring fever, spring sports arrive at Ward-Belmont with the gusto of a hurricane. Each club urges on its members and begs the players to overcome this most contagious fever to win laurels in baseball, archery, and track. Baseball is the favorite sport of the season. Every team this year has some outstanding players. Renger, an Osiron; Kinney, a T. C.; Sedwitz, an A. K.; and Knapp, an X. L., are a few of the excellent hitters and fielders. No sport creates more excitement or produces more thrills for the fans than baseball.

Several of the archery enthusiasts are trying for their Ward-Belmont letters. Hitting the target every time is no joke, for real skill and accuracy must be developed. Lee, Chadwell, Ragsdale, Dredia, Lawrence, Walsh, and Vaughn were among the thirty odd girls receiving archery letters. Lila May Banks won the archery award for the highest score this spring.

Jumping, hurdlng, and running are a few of the activities followed by the more energetic students on the campus. Energy plus is needed for all track work, and these girls have the stamina it takes. A track meet, in which each club has a team, held near the end of school, proved no exception to the established precedent, for several previous records were tied by our adept athletes. Every one was interested at the track meet watching the girls in three clubs, the X. L.'s, T. C.'s, and A. K.'s, tie for the cup.

Agora Club

Mary Jeannette Bennett, possessor of one of the nicest pair of brown eyes at Ward-Belmont, is president of the Agora Club. Working in harmony with her is Miss Gertrude Casebier, charming high school history teacher and sponsor of the club.

The Agora girls has been outstanding this year in obtaining both scholastic and athletic honors. Katherine Champion, a Senior-Mid, is a fine example of this enthusiastic spirit and while acting as secretary of the club, she has been popular on the entire campus. Margery Lawrence is the ideal Agora athlete. She has not only won recognition from the athletic department, but is also well-known for her work on the Hyphen.

Alice Berry Young ranks high among the Agora Seniors. She is secretary of Student Council and leader of the Captivators. Betty Neisler, another Senior, is vice president and chairman of the entertainment committee of the club.

Helen Jeanne Beaubien, proctor of Founders Hall, and Hortense Kelley, an all-round Agora from "Old Virginia" are two particularly well-known Senior-Mids, while Elizabeth Hickerson and Mary Nancy Davis, have both been prominent in all activities on the campus.

The Agora social season opened with a successful club week-end. This was followed by a dinner dance for the members and their guests. The final big social event was an open house and tea for the Seniors, ending a highly successful and enjoyable year for the Agoras.

Sponsor and President—A. K. CLUB

With one of the peppy Phillips twins as the president, the All 'Round Klub lives up to its name. Aiding Mary Jo in the responsibility of the organization is Miss Virginia Richey, its present sponsor.

During the year the club was unfortunate in losing Miss Pagenhart, the first sponsor, but quite fortunate in having Miss Virginia Richey, a former A. K. president, take over that pleasant responsibility.

The A. K.'s "Who's Who" includes the counterpart of the president, Janie Phillips, who is president of the Athletic Association. Elizabeth Gridley is representative of the ideal high school girl for she is president of the High School Student Council. Peggy Sedwitz is the outstanding A. K. claim to athletic prowess and as an example of good sportsmanship, she ranked second in the tennis tournament. Margaret Wingate, as proctor for Senior Hall for the first semester, has a leading place in club life, while her sister, Elizabeth, graciously portrayed Martha Washington at the Washington Birthday Ball this year. Representing the horseback riders of the club, June Haldt is an officer in the Turf and Tanbark Club and is a most adept rider.

The A. K.'s have excelled in scholastic and athletic achievements, tying with the Eccowasins for the hockey cup. They are especially noted for their hospitality and their entertainment during the year included two weekends at Ridgetop, one in November and one late in April; a skating party for their sister club—the Agoras—and their guests in March; a faculty tea in April; a tag day in May to end a happy and successful year.

Martha Bryan, with her perky hair ribbons, and Miss Katherine Hatcher with her winning smile, have led the Angkors through 1938-39. During this time the Angkors, so named for a meeting place in the Indian Temple of Angkor, have had a successful year.

Marie Smith led the blue and white uniforms to the finals in basketball. Ever versatile, Marie also won the tennis singles cup. Ann Stahlman organized a good bowling team for the year, composed of Martha Bryan, Virginia Barker, and Anne Vaughn. Enthusiastic over hockey, the team, managed by Jean Burk, played well, but was stopped before the finals. Spring sports brought baseball and the doubles tennis tournament and in both of these Angkors made high bids for top positions. Scholastic endeavors were rewarded with the gaining of the cherished scholarship cup. This cup remains in the Angkor's keeping permanently, for it has been won by them for three consecutive times. Now the club is just as hopeful that it can continue its excellent record and at the end of another three-year period claim another silver trophy for "keeps."

Social events of the year included two luncheon meetings at tearooms out in Nashville and a bundle party, to which each guest brought a bundle of old costumes. These bundles were exchanged and each girl donned the contents of the bundle which she received. For this occasion the gym was decorated like a "Dead End Street" and adorned with signs such as "Clara's Place" and "Throw Them Out Here." The outstanding skit of the evening was a chain gang tap routine by Frances Carter, Adaline Roberts, and Mamie Edwards. Songs and skits were presented by the club members, and a Jitterbug Contest was won by Mary Louise Broasteale and June Chisholm.

At an Angkor A. B. C. contest in the spring of 1938, Zerfoss was chosen as the ideal Angkor girl.

Led by Dorothy Kassel, the Anti-Pandoras have successfully closed Pandora's box of obstacles which arises in the school life of every member. Zest is added to the club meetings by Marjorie Cornelius, Betty Lohman, and Edith Morrow, leaders of the club in sports and scholastic endeavors.

Mrs. Helen King Fidlar, their sponsor, especially enjoys the musical talent in her club. Moneta Mack has contributed to several chapel programs by playing the organ, and Lois McCann, possessor of one of the loveliest voices on the campus, has been outstanding in her work with the Captivators.

The Anti-Pan's basketball team was composed of such "aces" as Posy Oswald, Martha Rhodes, Frances Rowley, and Helen McManus. The hockey players, although not victorious on the field, are particularly fresh in our minds because of the great amount of spirit that was evident among the members of the team.

The riding ring is especially attractive to the Anti-Pans where Madeline Souter is seen doing excellent work both in the horse shows and in the regular class work.

Along with the young journalists Edith Morrow, Ruth Benton, and Miriam Self, the achievements of such prominent Anti-Pans as Bebe Robinson and Barbara Appleton will be marked on the 1939 calendar.

The Anti-Pans social program has been well-filled this year. Their club first went to Ridgetop for an October week-end. The next big party was the club open house given in November. During the pre-Christmas season the members opened their club to entertain for a group of orphans. Their first party for the new year was a coffee given for the faculty in February. In March the Del Vers joined them in giving the Dance of the Nations in the gym. They topped off the season with a box supper-party in April for their sister club, the Del Vers.

THE 1939 MILESTONES
Tossing a goal in basketball is just as easy for Anita Williamson as being a good president for the Ariston Club. Following out the meaning of their name, Ariston, the members of this day student club, with Miss Gray as sponsor, strive for the "highest" and "best."

Nancy Stone, a five "A" student, and Elizabeth McCarley have certainly helped keep the scholastic average of the club well advanced. Penstaff has chosen its president, Joan Tucker, and many of its members from among the Aristons. Margaret Noland and Jane Chadwell, besides being honor students, have added to the laurels of their club by holding important day student council offices during this year. Jane has served as president of the council and Margaret has been day student proctor.

Tennis is one of their most popular sports. Last fall Anita Williamson and Jane Chadwell reached the quarter finals in the tennis tournament. Such skilled bowlers as Margory Gleason, Nancy Perry, and Mary Louise Davis made that team rank high among the scorers while Joan Tucker proved herself an able manager for the team. Entertaining at a Ship-Wreck party during the spring the Aristons and the Triads decorated the gym to represent a tropical island. The hostesses won the favor of the whole campus by using four truck loads of gardenias as a part of the decorations. Friends and guests not only enjoyed the idea carried out at the party—of wearing the clothes that in all probability they would have wearing had the boat been wrecked at 2 a.m.—but the wonderful aroma of those flowers penetrated almost every nook and cranny of Ward-Belmont.

When the Citizenship Cup was awarded to the Day Student Club having the highest rating, it is interesting to notice that the Aristons ran an extremely close second in the total number of points, for there was only a fractional difference between the winning club and the Aristons.

HELEN LUHRING and MISS VAN DEREN
President and Sponsor—DEL VERS CLUB

Undoubtedly one of the reasons that the Del Vers Club has been so active on the campus this year is that it has chosen such capable leaders. Helen Luhring is the president of this group, and she has carried the yellow and white colors of the club to new heights. Besides being the "first" member of her club, Helen is interested in riding and has won laurels in this sport. Miss Van Deren is the sponsor of the Del Vers, and in addition to her work as adviser of the publications on the campus and Alumnae Secretary, she has guided her club towards attaining many new achievements.

Scholastically, the Del Vers have been especially outstanding this year, because the honor roll usually finds Janet Fults, Jean Knappen, Marion Dredla, Betty Johnson, and Betty Jenkins included in its select few.

This club has had some outstanding players on its athletic teams. Nancy Doherty has been noteworthy in hockey, basketball, and bowling. Janet Fults and Eleanor Hanson were both eligible for active membership in the athletic association through their work in hockey. Laura Demmer and Marion Dredla were conscientious first and second string varsity bowlers for their club. Proudly displayed on the mantel at the club house is the bowling cup which was won during the tournament this winter, when the Del Vers bowled a score of 2,006.

Socially, the Del Vers Club has entertained most successfully this year. They sponsored the first open house party on the campus in the fall. Just before a week-end at Ridgetop, they had a skating party for their sister club, the Anti-Pans. Several picnics have been enjoyed during the year, but the climax of their social entertainment was the Dance of the Nations, given with the Anti-Pans with Francis Craig's orchestra playing for the dance to which the entire school was invited.

With such a friendly sponsor as Miss Louise Saunders and such a vivacious president as Jean Caldwell, those Indians, the Eccowasins, have had a year of plenty. Their motto, "Be all and give all," and the symbol of the swastika which they have adopted, have both been carried forward with enthusiasm. Thanksgiving was marked by donations of food for Thanksgiving dinners of the poor. During the Christmas holidays Mary Pope Creighton and a few other members took Christmas baskets of clothes and everything for a Christmas dinner to one poor family in the city.

The Eccowasins had many stars in hockey and tied with the A. K.'s for the hockey cup. Virginia Love Graves, a high school varsity player for several years, Keith Glasgow, Katy Heitzeberg, and the manager, Margaret Morgan, were the five outstanding players. The Eccowasins have always had a good bowling team. As a varsity bowler and manager of the team, Kit Edward chose Kathryn Heitzeberg, Laureine Olofsson, Betty Blackman, and Bess Hunt to officiate with her on the team. Tennis was well represented by Suzanne Rye who won the majority of her matches. The basketball team, under the management of Opie Craig, played a good fast game and boasted of such stars as Shelley Cabell and Helen McMurray.

During the fall members of the club entertained at a dinner party in the tearoom to help the club members become better acquainted. During the late winter the Eccowasin Club entertained with the Angkor Club at a "Bundle Party" to which each of the members and the guests brought bundles of clothes and costumes to be exchanged and worn. This party was a huge success for every person who attended enjoyed more than the usual amount of fun and frivolity.

THE 1939 MILESTONES
F. F. Club

Gracious Martha Jean Bunger, as president of the F. F.'s, embodied the "How do you do" manner that marks the Friendly Fifties Club. With their sponsor, Miss Bertha Ruef, the F. F.'s hold their meetings in their attractive clubhouse located in northeast Club Village.

Faye Kushner led the hockey team in the fall, and the purple and lavender uniforms became symbols of skill. During the winter the efficient athletic manager, Veralynn Erganbright, captained the basketball team; and the capable bowling manager, Ruth Ann Edwards, made her mark in that sport.

The middle of October found the F. F.'s enjoying a week-end at Ridgetop. and later in the month they held a most successful open house. In February they entertained members of the faculty and presidents' council at a coffee, while in March they planned a tea dance for the club members and their friends. Their sister club, Penta Tau, was entertained at a breakfast in May, and the F. F.'s had another open house that month. They also enjoyed a week-end at Dunbar's Cave late in April.

Included in the F. F. hall of fame are: Vesta Firestone, who is secretary of the club and active in all sport and scholastic events; Mae Stacy, a conscientious worker on both the Hyphen and Milestones staff; Evelyn Laird, first semester chapel proctor; and Veralynn Erganbright, business manager for the Milestones and treasurer of the Senior Class. Also prominent in the club is Nora Bickerstaff, president of the orchestra, who gave her diploma recital in violin in April.

Katherine Shofner leads the Osiron Club, one of the more spirited groups on campus, assisted by their enthusiastic sponsor—Miss Dorothy Dietrich. The Osirons are very enterprising this year for they have improved their records in citizenship, scholarship, and athletic endeavors.

Largely composed of high school girls, the club has built up an energetic attitude toward sports. The bowling team placed second in that tournament, and the other teams have provided stiff competition in all other games. Rosalie Renger made college hockey varsity for the club while two girls, Jean Marienthal and Frances Aldridge, placed on high school hockey varsity. Jane Allen Brooks, Donna Shultz, Charlotte Bailes and a number of other accomplished riders, competed in the Fall Riding Show.

Included in the Osiron "Claims to Fame" are talented Katherine Shofner, who swings with the Captivators, and who gave her certificate recital in April as did Charlotte Bailes; Kathryn Phillips holds a position of responsibility as treasurer of the High School Student Council; Rosalie Renger ranks as the Osiron athlete, for she is manager of the club teams and hockey manager on the Athletic Board; Frances Aldridge is interested in literary work, is found contributing to all publications and is active as vice-president of the Spanish Club; Marie Lackey is secretary of both the Osiron Club and the Spanish Clubs; and Barbara Mohler represents her club as vice-president of the Junior-Middle Class.

This year the Osirons entertained with a picnic in Percy Warner Park in October and another later in May. They held a successful open house in February and in March, they gave an unusual breakfast for the faculty, and presidents' council. Late in April they enjoyed a week end at Dunbar Cave.

Sponsor and President—OSIRON CLUB
Under the capable leadership of Mary Louise Breazeale and Miss Blanche Henry Clark, sponsor, the Penta Tau Club has continually been rising in status in campus life. In addition to their fame for high scholastic, athletic, and citizenship achievements, the Penta Taus are noted for their attractive members.

Heading the Penta Tau "Merit List" is Mary Louise Breazeale, certificate rider, who is also a leader in the German Club. Frances Lindfors, president of the Turf and Tanbark Club, is another candidate for a riding certificate. Elsa Lungstras, one of the club's outstanding athletes, made college hockey varsity, while Dexter Blount placed for her club on the high school hockey varsity. Sarah Elizabeth Wilhite provides the brain trust by being president of the Math Club, and Marjorie "Junior" Rushton lends the right amount of endeavor by holding down the position of editor of the Hyphen.

Social life is right in line with the Penta Tau's interests and they have shown this by being most successful and graceful hostesses. They had a unique newspaper party for their sister club, the F. F.'s in March. In November and again in April they enjoyed week ends, first at Camp Riviera-Lake, and later at Rawlins Inn. Their open house was in February and was a great success.

These Twentieth Century girls are well known on the campus this year for their leadership. The president, Jane Jarvis, successfully strides ahead with the capable help of the T. C. Sponsor, Miss Betty Jane Sehmann.

The T. C.'s rank high in the field of sports as is shown in their various feats of skill and their real efforts whenever sports are under consideration.

Charlotte Kinney, a star player in hockey and basketball, Frankie Taylor, an outstanding athlete, and Betty Caldwell, who is adept in wielding either a hockey stick or a baseball bat are three who make up star forwards in the line of sports. Jean Benigan, editor of Chimes, Silky Ragsdale, president of the College Student Government, and Winkle Pierce, Senior-Middle class president, are outstanding leaders on the campus. Betty Gill follows journalism, and is associate editor of the Hyphen; Marilyn Lookadoo is quite a personage among her high school and college friends, acting as president of the high school sophomore class; Ann Rolfe ranks high on campus for she has been second semester proctor of Heron; and Sissy Ross is at the top in high school popularity so one can see this all around T. C. Club as an important factor on the campus.

During the year the club has entertained its members and friends in various ways: two week ends at Ridgetop, a skating party for their sister club, the Osirons, an open house in October, a picnic for members and their friends to which over 130 people were invited, and at Christmas a box was fixed for a poor family, wire in Hyphen's.

President and Sponsor—T. C. CLUB
Talented Beverly Pickup directs the activities of the Triad Club as president. In cooperation with the sponsor, Miss Martha Ordway, the club tries to accomplish its threefold purpose.

Scholastic ambitions are held high by Benny Smith, who makes five "A's" a month in high school, as well as by Sylvia Goldstein and Ann Hardeman who represent the college Triads on the honor roll each semester.

Civic responsibilities are in charge of Olivia Chilton who in turn appoints various girls to serve as managers of each of the campus sports. The bowling team was organized by Edna Mae Ziegler while Joanne Hampton, Angeline Tillman and Lucy Parnell aided her in placing high among the scorers. The Triads were a top-ranking team and played enthusiastically through their whole schedule of basketball. Marjorie Carter, the manager, played as star forward and was aided by Frances Hargis, assistant manager. Lucy Parnell represented the high school girls on the basketball team and proved herself indispensable.

Social graces are not foreign to this day student club. In their weekly meetings they are entertained by members of the group who give varying programs. Two luncheon meetings were held during the year which were a special treat to the high school girls who are not required to leave the campus at noon. This group also sponsored an interclub ping pong tournament with a prize, donated by the members, waiting for the winner. A scrapbook with an autographed sheet preserved a record of the teams and the club plans, as well as a record of the "Triad A. B. C. Contest" winners and a book of poetry has been purchased to be awarded to the most valuable girl of this club.

Beverly Pickup and Miss Ordway
President and Sponsor of Triad Clubhouse

Club Roll
It is the plan of the Kubla Khan Club to have one social event each month, as well as a program at each meeting. Dynamic and individual Alice Mary Drew has proved an original and efficient president in her planning.

Chaperoned by their sponsor, Miss Catherine Morrison, the Tri K's spent an October week-end at a camp for girls about ninety miles from Nashville. Martha Eustis, as chairman, planned the entertainment during the entire time.

In November, the Tri K's entertained for the X. L.'s, their sister club, at a skating party and dinner at the clubhouse. This party was organized by zealous Mary Holman.

Marilyn Reeves, as general chairman for the December gym dance planned a most successful Yuletide party. The decorations of snowballs and Christmas trees and the refreshments suggesting Christmas novelties were in charge of Natalie Allen, Jean Park, and Jeannette Weeks. In February, a Sunday tea for the faculty members was successfully given. Shirley Ehrlich and Eleanor Campbell assisted in the planning and working out of this party. In March, a supper dance with Carol McEwan in charge was given for the club members and their friends. During April the club went on another week-end party.

With Mary Woolwine in charge of the hockey team, the club was represented on the field by such stars as Connie Wright and Alice Mary Drew. Chris Schrader, Virginia Gordon, and Natalie Allen were outstanding basketball players, while Betty Walker and Barbara Jones made high scores in the bowling tournament.

Club vespers, important to Club Mission, is handled by Jean Richardson. Betty Walker and Woodrow Penrod has been president of her 1938-39 class this year.
All day and into the evenings the X. L. clubhouse is the setting of fun and excitement. One of the reasons for the enthusiasm of this group as a whole is that every member is inspired by the petite president, Marjorie Crisp. Miss Merriwether, of the Home Office, is an understanding sponsor and she has proved helpful as well as a true friend of every girl in the club.

Being on the honor roll for achievement in academic work is truly an accomplishment for the girls who make that list. The X. L.'s have Suzanne McDonald and Mary James on the list regularly. Edith Dailey made the highest record in the school for the first nine weeks.

Teams in every sport have been sponsored by the club and the members who were not on the teams have shown real club spirit. The fall horse show brought the X. L.'s the loving cup which was awarded to the club receiving the highest number of points. Frances Farwell, Ruth Rice, Suzanne McDonald helped to win the cup. Hockey brought other athletes forward as Elsie Jane Knapp, Virginia Robb and Evelyn Huffman. The bowling team rated high in the club standing and Phyllis Shaw was especially outstanding. Elsie Jane Knapp bowled the highest individual score for the entire school.

The X. L.'s entertained this year by giving an open house early in the fall, followed by a weekend party at Ridge-top. They also entertained their sister club, the Tri K's, at a skating party, and the faculty was invited to a coffee. Edith Crane has been active in planning entertainment for the members during their regular meetings.
Tri K's eating supper... The Del Vers-Anti-Pons dance to Francis Craig's Orchestra... The ping-pong tournament... Open house... General relaxation... All these things make up club life at Ward-Belmont.
Special Days
"They walk, they talk, they're even human! The strangest things in captivity!"

A circus holds no queerer sights than the Ward-Belmont campus on Fag Day. This is a day set aside for the initiation of new girls into various social clubs. Stunts begin at seven o'clock in the morning and last through breakfast; although some of the less strenuous demonstrations are carried on throughout the day. Such sights as the X. L. babies with their bottles holding hands with the Penta Tau children; Del Vers clad very becomingly in burlap sacks to resemble frogs; Osirions as playing cards; and T. C.'s as shrinking violets, fill the big tent of the campus. Tri K's in their striped donkey suits, A. K.'s roaring as lions, and Anti-Fans in hula skirts of the latest funny papers, are featured side show attractions. The F. F.'s resemble Believe It or Not oddities with their funny faces, as do the Agoras, who are covered with letters of the alphabet.
Ward-Belmont has always prided itself on the traditional celebrations which it sponsors throughout the years; one of these annual events is the formal recognition of every class unit on the campus. Miss Mary R. Norris was responsible for the establishment of this custom several years ago, and the ideal behind it has endured even though the color and glamour of the ceremony has been enlarged. It was Miss Norris' original purpose to further a closer unity of the school as a whole by a mass meeting where the girls were segregated into their own class groups.

The activities of the day, October 7, 1939, began with a march to the Academic Building, where each class took its designated place. The Class Pledge, the Pledge song, and a speech by Miss Norris, in which she presented the purpose and aims of Class Recognition Day, were the order of events. Mr. Benedict presided over the activities.
Washington's Birthday

A glimpse of Martha Washington.

Time turns back, on the evening of George Washington's birthday, as the Ward-Belmont Seniors re-create the eighteenth century scenes of candlelight and minuet. Two girls are selected from this class for one of the loveliest honors Ward-Belmont can bestow—the privilege of portraying the roles of George and Martha Washington.

Powdered wigs take the place of permanent waves and lace and satin flounces romantically replace skirts and sweaters. Formal dinner is served in the dining room presided over by George and Martha. Afterwards, the guests and their host and hostess retire to the Academic Building, where the Seniors dance the minuet. This ceremony creates an unforgettable impression on the spectator as the brilliantly robed ladies and gentlemen of the Washington court portray again an evening at Mount Vernon. We are returned to the twentieth century when Carol Nelson as George and Elizabeth Wingate as Martha descend from their throne and begin modern ballroom dancing. Thus they invite the assembled guests and friends to enjoy themselves by dancing during the evening.

Elizabeth Wingate as Martha Washington and Carol Nelson as George Washington, descending the stairs in Recreation Hall leading their court to Washington's Birthday Ball, February 22, 1939.

Several members of the court and "The Washingtons" watch the modern military drill.
Senior-Senior-Middle Activities

On the campus April 1, this year, will be remembered, not merely as All Fools' Day, but as a day in 1939 when the traditional interclass competition took place. The Seniors and Senior-Middles were summoned from their beds by a 6:30 bell. Girls in purple and yellow scattered hither and yon and various well-organized committees hurried to decorate the campus, range, courts, and field. Seniors were "put on ice" and Senior-Middles were "left on the dump heap," but it was all in fun! Within an hour the campus was transformed into a battlefield in which rackets, balls and bats were the accepted weapons.

Excitement reached its highest pitch when the Senior-Middles picketed and struck against TIME and the Seniors soared from Mars in their rocket ship, invading the Senior-Middle world and taking each inhabitant captive.

Never-failing good sportsmanship was revealed by both classes as had already been shown in the hockey, basketball, and bowling games earlier in the year. The Seniors gained a head start over the Senior-Middles by winning the two morning sports—tennis and bowling. During the afternoon the Senior-Middles retaliated and won back their lost points by showing themselves adept in water polo and archery. Although only a few were able to participate in the games, the remainder of both classes did their part in cheering their teams to victory.

The climax of this wonderful day came when the Seniors entered the dining room two by two, dressed in yellow and white, and singing the Senior song:

No April is lacking among spectators or players.
We pledge now our love for our old W.-B.,
We vow to be ever true;
We pledge, too, our love for our dear Senior Class—
Our faith all-resisting, our goal for life’s best,
Our motto, “To do or die.”

The joys we have here will not fly as the leaves;
They’ll last us life’s journey through;
And the love we have now for the friendships we’ve made
Will live in our memories, too;
And though we must part from each other some day,
As Seniors have parted before,
The glorious spirit of old ’39,
Will linger for evermore.

After these Seniors had taken their places the Senior-Middles, who had met in the dining room before the Seniors marched in, sang to them the song that has been the Senior-Middle song during the entire year.

We love you, we love you,
The dear old Senior Class,
In victories, in losses
Your spirit true
Reveals the you
We can’t surpass.

We’ll cheer you,
Revered you
Throughout our campus days,
And then at last
We’ll whisper to you
Our parting word of praise.

Mr. Benedict’s announcement of the winning class was met with cries of victory from the Seniors, and a spirit of “try again” from the Senior Mids. It was the end of a perfect day, and one that will long be remembered as a high light in the annals of Ward-Belmont.

The Senior-Middles strike against TIME as the Senior Yellow Jackets descend from Mars.
Senior-Senior-Middle Derby

On a certain day during the latter part of February a commotion was heard in Middle March: the Seniors had just received their invitations to the Senior-Senior-Middle Derby.

After that tension was high on campus, for everyone was eager to know more of the racing news from Ward-Belmont Downs.

On Derby Night, March 2, the twenty-sixth annual Senior-Senior-Middle Derby was held. The guests entered the dining room through a giant horseshoe covered with roses and took their places at the tables decorated with miniature horses, hurdles, and candlestick holders made of horseshoes holding yellow candles. The room was a mass of colored pennants arranged in typical derby fashion. The inside windows became stalls for the Seniors’ pride horses—named for class officers. Throughout the evening these thoroughbreds watched the proceedings from their stalls.

The Derby was announced by Edith Dailey, toastmistress, and the program began with a welcome given by Winkie Pierce, president of the Senior-Middle Class. In response to this welcome, Betty Walker, the first entry and president of the Senior Class, expressed the appreciation of her group for the Derby given in their honor. Katy Helzberg gave the track records of many Senior winners, one of these winners being illustrated by Marjorie Cogburn in the dance which followed. The various processes of training and grooming that the horses have to undergo in the paddocks to become winners were discussed by Nancy Davis. Between speeches several fanfares were given by members of the hostess class. The Equestriennes did a dance in keeping with the Derby idea, and a quartet of singers told the sad story of the mare named Walker who “didn’t bring home the bacon.” After these fanfares Mary Adelaide Hansen gave the betting odds of the Seniors and revealed many idiosyncrasies of the horses themselves.

The high point of the evening’s fun was the address by Mr. A. B. Benedict, head trainer for all Ward-Belmont Downs, Incorporated. Following this final address, the entire Senior-Middle Class offered a tribute or laurel wreath to the Seniors in the form of a song. Without a break the entire group began “The Bells of Ward-Belmont,” the theme song for all derbies that will ever be held on this race track.
Queen's Attendants

College Maid—Rosemary Fox
High School Maid—Beth Holcombe
When the campus is colorful with the coming of spring, it is fitting that some celebration should be presented to which the tulips, the ivy and the summer houses can add. May Day is undoubtedly one of the high lights of our school year.

This year's May Day theme was "Dancing Through the Years." Various dances, each representative of a definite type, were presented under the direction of Miss Mary Elizabeth Delaney. All the students enrolled in school, with the exception of the seniors, took part in the dance program.

Dances commencing with the Grecian period, following through the Grecian, Roman, Indian, Russian Ballet, Gavotte, Pavonette, Polka, Mazurka, Viennese Waltz, Isadora Duncan era, American Country Dances, up to and including the Modern Dance—all these comprised the program.

As a fitting climax to the program, which was presented before the May Queen, Katherine Walsh; Rosemary Fox, College Maid; and Beth Holcombe, High School Maid; one hundred students danced the May Pole Dance. The personnel of the center pole was composed of those girls in the advanced ballet class, while the other poles were danced about by high school students.

Costumes from Indians to Grecian figures were designed especially to carry out the idea portrayed by each group. Pageantry, color, pomp and beauty all blend to make May Day one of the most colorful and lovely of Ward-Belmont's events.
Step Singing

Traditions hold the campus in awe as the "new girls" replace the "old girls" on the steps of the Academic building, during one of the most impressive of the closing activities—Step Singing.

On Saturday, May 27, the members of the Senior class gathered to sing to the school their songs of praise, appreciation, and love. Then it is that they are invited to join the alumnae, that larger group of "old girls" which reaches literally around the world, who feel that graduation is the beginning of another phase in the development of loyalty to this, their school. Sunday, May 28, these Senior girls met again to sing their last farewells to the school and to give over their position as the Senior class to the incoming class of '40.

Accompanying this change of status in the classes is the carefully directed singing of each group. Under the able guidance of Janet Fults the Seniors present their favorite songs honoring their class and the incoming Senior class as well as the school, which they are about to leave. Surely the harmony, clarity, sincerity, and beauty of these songs typify the class members' life at Ward Belmont. To the incoming class of '40 the Senior's deep-felt emotion at leaving this school, comes almost as a current in the air, and perhaps for the first time they recognize the beauty and duty which is theirs as the successors of the Senior Class of 1939.

Not only the students, but the guests are impressed by the girls in white dresses laying the steps, their fair forms bearing the numerals 1-9-3-9 before the imposing white columns of "Ac." This ceremony has now a part of gradation with the commencement service, for each girl finds through it a truer conception of the real worth of her life, here at Ward Belmont. The lasting spirit of this occasion remains with the "old girls" and continues with the "new girls" from a vital part of the everlasting memories of school days here on the campus.
Graduation

As a milestone in the progress of Ward-Belmont, graduation and commencement come to close the school year and open the future to the graduating classes. The dates for these events are set for May 29 and 30. During this time one hundred and three graduates, solemn-faced and moist-eyed, will hear stimulating addresses. This year the Senior College group will hear Dr. Frank Hill Caldwell, president of the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary, deliver the commencement sermon. Dr. Robert Johns Trevorrow, from Hackettstown, New Jersey, will give the college commencement address. The high school graduates will hear Bishop E. P. Dandridge, Nashville, Tennessee. These messages will have inspirational meanings for each individual girl, for they will serve as a valuable part of her memory.

In these last few days which hold fast to traditions, every Ward-Belmont girl experiences a sense of responsibility, honor, and duty to her own school—a sense which is felt in the sound of the chimes playing in the tower, in the green of the class ivy plant, and in the merriment at the All-Club banquet held the last evening. With these feelings imbedded in her memories, each girl wants to leave the school "better and more beautiful than it was given to her."

ENSEMBLE

To be elected ABC Ensemble is one of the highest honors that comes to a Ward-Belmont girl. The choice this year is somewhat unusual, for not one girl, but two—the Phillips twins—were chosen by the entire student body as best portraying those qualities which go toward making the Ensemble Girl.

Resume of the Senior-Middle Class

The first activity of the 1939 Senior-Middle Class was a picnic early in the fall. At the invitation of Ann Ganier, the entire Senior-Middle Class went to the Ganiers' private lodge to enjoy themselves and to get better acquainted with each other.

One of the high points of the fall activities was the Senior-Middle dance held in the dining room. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Benedict and Miss Ewing, class sponsor, and the officers of the class Winkie Pierce, Kathryn Heitzeberg, Chris Schrader, Ann Walker, Ann Vaughn, and Virginia Baxter. The successful evening was brought to a close with a supper served in the small dining room.

November 30 found the Senior-Middle Class in charge of the devotional service in chapel. Aiding the president was Lois McCann, who sang a vocal selection, and Barbara Cartwright, the elected speaker.

The holiday spirit was carried out in the Christmas tea given by the class for the faculty, the administration, and the Seniors. Carolers standing on the steps in Recreation Hall serenaded the guests with Christmas carols in traditional fashion, and Grace Baird played a violin solo.

Mrs. Benedict honored the class January 11 with a tea at her home. Miss White, newly selected class sponsor, presided at the tea table, with various members of the class assisting.

Competition with the Senior Class in the sports, spirit, and challenge of Senior-Senior-Middle Day found the Senior-Middles justly rewarded, though not victorious.

On March 3 the Senior-Middle Class was hostess to the Senior Class at a banquet—the Senior-Middle Derby. Here the Seniors were portrayed as winners in the race of life, and heralding the Senior triumphs were Edith Dailey, Winkie Pierce, Ann Walker, Kathryn Heitzeberg, Marionine Conburn, Nancy Davis, Mary Adelaide Hansen, Lois McCann, while various members from the dancing and voice departments of the school brought the program to a close.

To round out the year's activities the class boarded five busses on the afternoon of April 20, headed for a picnic at the Benedict farm. Good food, good games, and good friends assured a happy time for all.

Fish is health-food,
Pure and simple—
Feeds the mind,
Brings out your dimple;
Should you angle after
School is out—
There's good fish yet
As e'er caught out.
