XXVII SEASON

Presented by the Students of
WARD-BELMONT SCHOOL
Nashville, Tennessee
Presenting...

MILESTONES

This is an annual production with our campus, stretching from majestic Acklen Hall, past the white-pillared buildings of the central campus, into club village, as its setting.

CHARACTERS
In the progress of our play, you have found yourselves working from bit parts into leads. You and your friends have worked together behind stage and before the footlights to make this a finished production.

PLOT
The plot began to unfold last fall and developed against the backdrop of the changing seasons with activities on the athletic field, in club village, in Academic building, and in the dorms. Our plot is one phase of a continuous drama.

PROGRAM NOTES
Our purpose is to spotlight our phase of this drama. A program may suggest the framework, but only you who have lived the action can give it form. We hope that MILESTONES will be the program you'll always keep from the play you'll always remember.
Miss Catherine E. Morrison, the personification of Ward-Belmont ideals and traditions, to whom the 1946 Milestones is dedicated. Quiet authority, quick flashes of humor, understanding, fairness, wisdom, and capability combine to make her one of our most beloved and respected personalities.

Unforgettable is her amazing faculty for remembering each girl's name, her interest and guidance in every campus activity from the first hockey game through Washington's Birthday, May Day, and graduation. She has seen Ward-Belmont grow and has aided in that growth. Knowing her has made us stand just a little straighter and renew our faded resolutions.
To a Lady

Miss Annie Allison, Dean of the Preparatory School for twenty years before her retirement in June, 1945. Miss Annie left upon each of her girls a profound influence during many years of untiring service. Her interests were confined not only to the rounding of education, but to the creating of true ladies. She trained them to live under the pressure of a modern world with an unswerving belief in ideals and an understanding nature, and to meet with calm assurance a world quickly moving into a physical and mechanical realm.

True to her firm belief that aristocracy was a matter of manners and education, Miss Annie set as ideals for her girls throughout the years those of truth, beauty, purity, and courage.

We remember Dr. Linda Rhea

"for those little things—the way her room spelled springtime with the daffodils she loved in place on her desk and the buds of the willow tree outside her window, giving the soft air of a southern spring to her classroom; the nervous little way she tipped back in her chair and flipped the pages of her desk calendar; the quick tilt of her head and the crisp grey hair falling into waves; the small unembellished manner of writing; the way she loved the South; the rise and fall of her voice as she read her favorite poem, 'Rugby Chapel,' and her last gay wishes for a 'Merry Christmas.'"

Dr. Linda Rhea, head of the college English department, moved for many years behind classes and organizations in a quiet, efficient way which belied the energy and devotion which she had for Ward-Belmont. These are our memories of Dr. Rhea.

The Directors
By the close of his first year as President of Ward-Belmont Dr. Provine had proven the true value of the qualities he possesses, those of leadership, progressive spirit, and approachable personality, and had charmed everyone by the innate culture and dignity of the Southern gentleman.

A feeling of confidence in him is unmistakably present in the respectful cooperation of his associates and in the students’ response to his inspirational chapel talks, to the courtesy that lacks pretense. Supported by these two groups an improved Ward-Belmont is assured under the guidance, directed by wisdom, of Dr. Provine.
Dean of the College

Instructor, counselor, and adviser of academic problems is Dean Hogarth, who possesses the ability, competence, and willingness to guide students in their courses of study. His personal interest in the scholastic achievements of each student inspires all to seek a deeper and fuller understanding of knowledge.
Mrs. Susan S. Souby
Principal of the Preparatory School

During her first year as head of the high school, Mrs. Souby has been increasingly loved and respected by the preparatory students. By instilling in them her own interest in campus activities, she has maintained the department’s position as an integral part of the school.

Mr. Alan Irwin
Dean of Conservatory of Music

All music students working under Dean Irwin’s excellent direction will never forget his musical ability, keen wit, and ready understanding. Always conscious of the need for music, he has instigated and led numerous activities designed to increase its appreciation.
Wisely and graciously handling each student's personal problems, Miss Casebier's friendliness and concern is recognized by all Ward-Belmont girls. Her eagerness to add to the joys of school life has won the appreciation of all.
Vitality and efficiency have been the keynote of Mr. Bitzer's first year as registrar. By organizing a Public Relations Office, he has been instrumental in the circulation of Ward-Belmont news and activities throughout the United States.

Genial and kindly, zealous and capable, Mr. Donovan successfully manages the intricate financial affairs of the school. His desire to improve Ward-Belmont in all ways has made him a friend to students and faculty alike.

Mrs. Almond
These are the Seniors who remember first the friendliness of the yellow-tagged girls who led a bewildered group of Mids through the maze of rush week, their first college classes, and those homesick Sunday afternoons; the excitement of returning to familiar faces after Christmas; “the night we made the raid,” and that Saturday afternoon when three halls were merged into a class; the realization that Ward-Belmont was theirs, and it would always be a part of them. With spring came magnolias, long, lazy nights at the club, and anxious waiting materialized when Ward-Belmont girls stood, that sunny morning, to hear the chimes in the tower announcing V-E Day.

These are the Seniors who heard the echoes of the Class of ’45 as they sang of “the glorious spirit of old ’46,” carried out the new Orientation program, listened on Senior Recognition Day and resolved to “give now, that the season of giving may be yours and not your inheritors.” They abandoned jeans and long-tailed shirts for crinoline skirts and powdered wigs to dance the minuet on Washington’s Birthday; danced at a peacetime senior prom; and matched pastel formals with roommates and saved ribbons from May Day.

These are the Seniors who followed the tradition of wearing personality cuts and hats to match; brought class blazers to Ward-Belmont; stacked red English books beside The Prophet and Barefoot Boy with Check. These are the “Hayseeds” who set the pace of campus life, who were “out for victory” on Senior, Senior-Middle Day. They sang the Senior Song together for the last time at Step Singing, and, standing in the shadow of Pembroke Hall, heard promise in the voices of ’47. At graduation they held hopes, memories, and a diploma as they marched from the chapel to “The Bells of Ward-Belmont.”

These are the Seniors. What they leave and what they take must of necessity be intangible, for “what is essential is invisible to the eye.” Their class will live if the things for which it stood are worthy. That is their hope. These were the Seniors.

LETS GIVE A CHEER FOR THE SENIOR-MIDS

WHO have developed from a mass of yellow tags, new fall suits, and bewildered expressions into long-shirted, peroxide-streaked Ward-Belmont Mids with individual personalities and qualities of leadership.

WHO remember alighting from cabs in front of the Academic building to be greeted by hordes of Seniors eager to show them club village, their rooms, and how to open their post office box . . . who tried desperately to remember names during rush week . . . who left hurried packing to sit on the stairs and listen to the Seniors carol at Christmas . . . who cringed at the first sight of Blue Books . . . who dressed in their best formals to dance at the Senior-Mid dance, and as April Showers escort May Flowers to the Senior-Senior Mid banquet . . . who as Crusaders and Robin Hood’s merry men showed spirit and ingenuity on Senior-Senior Middle Day.

HERE is next year’s Senior class. This year they stood on the sidelines at Washington’s Birthday, May Day, and graduation. Next year they will take their places as Seniors with a resolve to use their spirit, cooperation, and ideals in leaving Ward-Belmont a better school than the one they entered. Let’s give a cheer for the Mids of ’46 . . . the Seniors of ’47.

Miss Leach
Jane Faulk
The tall and the short of it who made their debut with the rattle of the tin woodman and other Oz characters at the Inter-Hall Party, and took their curtain call in white dresses and roses at graduation; whose atoms were unleashed on Junior, Junior-Middle Day, and were fused into tears at the Senior Banquet.

Forgetting about chemistry and English, they dashed to the smoker during “recreation,” but were called back by the shout, “Study hall, y’ all.” In a mad rush from the chapel they fought to form a weaving, chanting line outside the Tea Room. They rolled over when they heard the breakfast bell on Saturday morning and later, in pin curls, and jeans, appeared in Middle March reading their mail and drinking cokes. They introduced prep senior hats. Bouncing to class shouting, “Let it rain, let it rain, let it rain”; sharing books, clothes, and money like a huge family; inventing new languages and coining trick phrases . . . they are easily distinguished on campus as one of the most alive and united groups at Ward-Belmont.

“The Junior-Middles stand before you,” with ideals and spirits high, personifying the promise of youth.

This organization is a prominent tradition of Ward-Belmont. It is a string ensemble of the most talented girls in school. Furnishing the music for the ever-beautiful George Washington processional, this group was a highlight of the evening.

CAPTIVATORS

One of the most versatile organizations on campus, the Captivators, switch at the slightest provocation from circus music to "I'm in the Mood for Love" and the latest song hits. Fronted by Shirley Corrough and with such stars as Miss Jean Ryder and Pat Tanton, Sheila Kennard, Pat Rhine, and vocalist Peggy Henry, the Captivators continue as one of Ward-Belmont's most popular musical groups.
The Play
Act I
Boarding Student Council

Built on the fundamental principle that students may best be governed by other students, the Student Council was organized to enforce rules and to make judicious decisions. Sponsored by the Council and directed by Ruth Evans and forty campus leaders, extensive plans for Orientation Week were carried out at the beginning of the year. Another project undertaken this year by the Council in cooperation with Miss Casebier was the publication of a revised handbook for new students.

Ward-Belmont is a community, and as such must have its governing body. The Student Council, by endeavoring to promote justice and integrity, has proven itself worthy of its responsibility and the trust of the students.

Day Student Council

Extremely efficient in all its duties, this organization has again this year distributed its usual number of majors and minors. But, though this is true, the main purpose of the Council is not to punish or to prohibit pleasures. Forming the connecting link between the administration and day students, the Day Student Council strives to promote school spirit and respect for school laws.

The Preparatory School Council proves itself a capable and efficient democratic governing body on the Ward-Belmont campus and functions as an interpreter of school rules, passing judgment on the misdemeanors of students. The aim of the Council is not only to build character among Preparatory students, but also to bring them into closer touch with the administration.

We owe to the Y.W.C.A.

thanks for the wonderful gym parties, the hilarious peanut hunt, and the exciting Valentine Banquet, climaxed by the appearance of the long-awaited King and Queen of Hearts.

Officers and members of the cabinet owe to the Y thanks for such memories as their first glimpse of Tennessee mountains in the fall, the thunder of acorns rolling down the roof of a dormitory filled with double-deck beds and Y representatives of other colleges. These things, square dances, and "Do your ears hang low?" will always remind them of their Retreat to the woods.

We owe to the Y.W.C.A. memories of quiet, inspirational vespers in the clubhouses, the evening we learned the Meaning of the Fire, candlelight vespers in Acklen at Christmas, and the Easter sunrise service in the Club Village. Y-sponsored discussion groups deepened our religious tolerance, which is only one instance of the many ways, often inconspicuous, in which the Y.W.C.A. enriches the life of each girl.

The Y.W.C.A.'s influence is broader than campus activities. In service to the community its members planned weekly trips to such places as the Old Ladies' Home, Junior League Crippled Children's Home, Tennessee Orphanage, Thayer Hospital, and Camp Campbell; and in participating in world-wide activities they carried out a clever and original campus campaign for the World Student Service Fund.

From the editor's desk

have come all the fun-packed, memory-packed newspapers, literary magazines, and pages of the annual which we know as publications. Each publication is a secret society: its meeting place the office that changes its name by days of the week; its language a maze of "inches to be filled." "we need snapshots!" and "but it will fill up space"; its diet one of cokes, cigarettes, and hazelnut ice cream; its pride the clock that never runs, the typewriter that skips spaces, and the lights that will never turn on when they are needed; its conscience the N.S.P.A.; and its sisterhood a group of girls with no fingernails, editors' hats, and the luxury of a private phone.

Their "Pub Party" took them into a world where they read encyclopedias, contacted long-neglected men for information, and toured the campus in search of their American conception of British "dives." From this typical literary confusion emerged an imaginative night on which the entire student body went "cockney," drinking cider and eating pretzels, paying tribute to the originality of the staffs as they laughed at the antics of Punch and Judy, wept large tears over "Poor Little Yellow Bird," sang "Tipperary" with Gracie, and applauded "But happy is the day when all of you say, 'We liked our MILESTONES. Hyphen, Chimes today!'"

On this editor's desk are laid the first works of collegiate journalists, and from this desk evolves the voice of the campus. The ideas conceived here move to deep dorm discussions and informal chatter in the smoker, from which come those important thoughts which are considered a "part of college."
They put out your annual on Saturday afternoons while searching for synonyms and calling out votes over the roar of the coke machines, pleading for snapshots and missing lunch to keep dates with the photographer. They suffered cross-examinations in their dorms like five-year-olds sworn to secrecy about their surprises. Feeling professional they discussed type heads with the printer and layouts with the artist. They shared trivial disappointments, the excitement of that first peek at the cover, and poignant relief the day the last piece of copy was rolled from the typewriter. They waited with that feeling that comes when you've packed and know you've left your toothbrush behind until the confusion of pasted layouts and typed copy returned—the Milestones.

They put out your annual with the hope that in this book would be crystallized the favorite memories of every girl. If they have saved for you the chimes in the tower, the lost ribbon from your May Day bouquet, and memories of the people who made your school life complete, they will indeed be rewarded for all the lost sleep, the cut classes, the time spent, and the energy consumed in presenting to you the 1946 Milestones.
The Hyphen's up!

Saturday morning, and seven hundred twenty-five girls are reading about the latest college fashions according to their own Mademoiselle, the doings of the athletic gals, the idiosyncrasies of the latest concert artist, and the surprising thoughts of their roommates in Inquiring Reporter.

The Hyphen's up, and the staff, who live in a world of Tuesday nights, typewriters, by-lines, headlines, and chasing news stories with a pocketful of fragmentary clues, search blindly for typographical errors.

A newspaper is an integral part of campus life, and to Ward-Belmont girls the Hyphen stands as the crystallization of their thoughts and actions week by week.

These literary geniuses of the 1946 Chimes staff convened on Monday nights with resolution in their hearts and piles of unread manuscripts in their hands, and ended the evenings in a welter of caustic comments, empty coke bottles, overflowing ashtrays, and the beginnings of a new Chimes. They wrote, read, and elided; set and reset contest dates; and after many discussions and consultations about the size, shape, and color that would make Chimes demand to be read, mentally crossed their fingers for luck and put the book into the hands of the printer.

Chimes presented in its three annual issues the best writing done by Ward-Belmont. A variety of selections ranging in subject matter from an elegy to a favorite earmuff to discussions of world problems formed a kaleidoscopic picture of campus life and maturing thought.

The purpose of the Athletic Association is to promote comradeship, good sportsmanship, and fair play. With Leotus Morrison as president and Miss Catherine E. Morris as sponsor, the Athletic Association plays an active part in life at Ward-Belmont. Besides the five officers, there are eight athletic managers who are chosen for their outstanding abilities in the respective sports. Girls may become active members of the Association by making one varsity or three club teams. The Association aroused interest in athletics by holding open gyms, offered healthy competition at the Inter-Hall Party, and entered into campus social life with the A.A. Circus.

Phi Theta Kappa

Phi Theta Kappa, one of the national organizations on the campus, is an honorary scholastic society open to students in Junior Colleges. Members are initiated twice a year on the basis of scholastic achievement and citizenship. The maintenance of a "B" average is a requirement of membership in this organization, whose purpose is to promote scholarship, develop character, and cultivate fellowship.

This year's project of the Delta Zeta chapter at Ward-Belmont was the compilation of a student, faculty, and staff directory entitled, "Who's Where." Also, a precedent was set when twenty-four new members were tapped in the impressive candlelight ceremony February 25.

The Penstaff Club is a Preparatory School organization designed to stimulate interest in creative writing. The members are chosen by the work which they have submitted. This year's activities included a tea for the new members, a banquet, and a spring picnic.
The second year of the Round Table Club has proved through its success that the students of Ward-Belmont are developing a genuine interest in the welfare of their country, both at home and abroad. At monthly meetings a selected panel discusses vital foreign, economic, and political problems.

The purpose of the Chemistry Club is to make chemistry more interesting by bringing out its modern and practical side, and to give its members a view into various branches of chemistry, such as medical technology and chemotherapy. Membership is open to all analytical and organic chemistry students and to Preparatory and general chemistry representatives. During the year the members made tours through various chemical plants and factories of Nashville. The club entertained all science students and faculty members in “Pig Heaven.”
HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

OFFICERS
President    Ruth Jenkins
Vice-President Barbara Peters
Secretary    Martha Lou Harlow
Treasurer    Tally Pope
Reporter     Nancy Attwood
Sponsors     Mrs. Sargent, Mrs. Walker

The Home Economics Club develops in its members those traits necessary for home and community service. In order to be a member, a girl must be a student in the Home Economics Department. Among the instructive programs presented this year were: Hair Styling, Armstrong's; Bridal Fashions, Cain-Sloan; Cake Decorating; Silver Display, Stiefs; and Spring Fashions, Tinsley's.

ART CLUB

OFFICERS
President    Kay Keggin
Vice-President Janet Nelson
Secretary    Beverly Williams
Treasurer    Marjorie Stuart
Sponsor      Miss Mary Shackleford

Forming a small part of the National Federation of Art Groups, members of this club are encouraged in a more general understanding of art principles and develop a greater conception of what constitutes art. Beginning their activities with an exhibit of oil paintings featuring the newly completed portrait of Dr. Joseph E. Burk, the group rounded out its year by officially opening Fine Arts Week with a tea and exhibition of etchings in Acklen Hall. Club talent was displayed in the student art exhibit in June.
To promote interest in dramatics is the purpose of the Speech Club. Not only Ward-Belmont students rely on the speech department to highlight such occasions as Christmas and Easter, but many Nashville organizations call upon the club to present programs. Dramas presented this year were the nativity play, “The Shepherds,” “Saint Claudia” at Easter, and “A Midsummer Night’s Dream.”

In monthly meetings members of the French department assemble to discuss French life and literature and to practice conversation in French. The club’s special project for this year was to bring to Ward-Belmont an outstanding French film.
GERMAN CLUB

OFFICERS

President: Carrolvn Kelton
Vice-President: Pattiie Simonsen
Secretary: Rosemary Wallace
Treasurer: Mildred Traeger
Sponsor: Mrs. Fitzgerald Parker

The German Club combines a flair for entertainment with a more serious study of German customs. This combination was illustrated at the Christmas party when the girls decorated a Christmas tree in the German manner and sang native Christmas carols. At the spring picnic, German food was prepared and served. By such activities as these, the German language is taken from textbooks and made a living thing.

SPANISH CLUB

OFFICERS

President: Mary Lou Phelps
Vice-President: Shirley Corrough
Secretary-Treasurer: Pat Windle
Sponsors: Dr. Mary L. Givens, Mr. Thomas Donner

The Spanish Club's monthly meetings are devoted to movies, Spanish songs, and talks by Pan-American students attending Ward-Belmont. Spanish conversation at these meetings increases fluency in the spoken language and knowledge of idiomatic expression.

were all-out as, amid screams and yells from the bleachers, well-matched teams drove through a spirited hockey season which goes down on the scorebook as the most unusual in the history of the school.

Rain and upsets among seeded teams resulted in a series of games which left the Agoras holders of the cup before reaching the semifinals.

The bowling alleys are always a popular place for Saturday nights on campus, but during the bowling season practice begins in earnest as each girl tries to perfect the perfect form and accuracy that fills the form sheet with strikes and spares.

Every club enters four girls in the annual bowling tournament, and only the four clubs with the highest scores advance to the finals. This year in a close contest the D. V.'s won the cup, defeating the Tri K's, A. K.'s, and Osirons.

With a plunge and a splash, Barbara Nelson swam away with top honors at the annual swimming meet. Following in her wake came second-placer Nancy Hornaday, with Betty Rutland a close third. Nancy Peacock's record-breaking plunge, plus the speed and good form of the other Penta Taus, won the cup for their club. In second and third place were the Tri K and Del Vers Clubs.
ARCHERY

Much to the amazement of all campus would-be Robin Hoods, hitting the bull’s-eye is not merely a matter of putting arrow to bow and letting go. Long hours of practicing the essentials—stance, aim, and position—are necessary to become consistent hitters such as Carol Cannon, Mary Lou Phelps, and Betty Steed.

GOLF

Stance, grip, and a clean follow-through—and a golfer’s ball will fly straight down the fairway. With these aims in mind, girls in fall and spring golf classes “try, try, again” to perfect their strokes. This year for the first time advanced students spent one afternoon a week at the municipal links where such outstanding golfers as Mary Lena Faulk, Patzie Simonson, Jean Gill, and Peg Clough shot par or below.
TRACK

Running, jumping, and hurdling are a few of the activities followed by the more energetic students on campus. Endurance-plus is needed for all track work, and these girls have what it takes. A spring track meet in which each club enters its stars featured competition in dashes, relays, broad jump, high jump, and hurdling. Outstanding in these events were Marilyn Flynn, Margaret Petrass, Lea Adair, Pat Waggoner, Betty Asquith, and Gloria Reif.

BASEBALL

Senior, Senior-Mid Day ushered in an exciting season of baseball at Ward-Belmont. The April 27 game was packed with thrills, featuring the pitching of the Senior's "Florida" Faulk, backed by Peggy Loving, Jane Dury, and M. F. Jones. Mid reliables were Pitcher Alma Edmonds, Pat Tanton, and Marilyn Flynn.
The highest honor that can be bestowed upon a Ward-Belmont riding major is to be elected to membership in the Turf and Tanbark Club. In addition to increasing their general knowledge about horses, members put this knowledge into practical application on breakfast rides and trips to the Chicago horse show and the Kentucky Derby. For the first time in several years, Turf and Tanbark furnished a clubroom which served for club meetings and informal get-togethers of riding enthusiasts.

The fall riding season opened with eager beginners who worked hard through dusty days in the ring to present the Fall Riding Show sponsored by Turf and Tanbark. Barbara Allen rode off with top honors, and the cup was presented to the Penta Tau Club. During the winter months riders attended classes on the theory of handling and caring for horses and looked forward to spring with its gaited work and exciting jumping. The climax of the year came with the Twenty-Third Annual Spring Riding Show which featured, in addition to the general classes, exhibitions by advanced students in driving and riding in pairs.

TOPS—Training Offered for Patriotic Service—has, during its few years of existence, become one of the most important organizations on the campus. Sponsored by the Physical Education Department, its purpose is to give each girl training in development of leadership, health, and character.

In addition to the colorful drills presented on special occasions which featured the newly-formed Drum and Bugle Corps under the direction of Miss Jean Ryder, the TOPS managed the infantile paralysis drive and assisted in the Junior League paper sale on campus for the benefit of the Crippled Children’s Home.

"Good morning inspection" is the much-used phrase of Nancy Ripy. Frances Lewis at attention
CORPS IN COLUMN

Captains at attention for flag raising.
Members of the Ward-Belmont Dance Department, favorite school entertainers, are constantly in demand at all outstanding school events. Choreographer-director, Miss Jean Jones, has on numerous occasions exhibited her own talents, reflected in the accomplishments of her pupils.

Spectators at the Halloween Banquet, Washington's Birthday, dance recital, and May Day applauded warmly tap, ballet, and modern dance routines. Particularly outstanding work was shown in the original "American Anthology," arranged by Miss Jones and performed by modern dance students for a Dance Festival at Vanderbilt University.
Act III
The Agoras, under their talented president, Mickie Purcell, and their gracious sponsor, Mrs. Gordon, have walked away with their share of campus offices, honors, and good times. Included on their roster are Ruth Evans, editor of Hyphen; Jeanne DeMoss, president of the "Y"; Gail Slack, vice-president of Athletic Association; Connie Williams, vice-president of Senior-Mid class; Billie Jean Hailey, treasurer of Senior-Mid class; Joanne Jeans, secretary of Senior-Mid class and assistant editor of Chimes; Mary Jane Stuckey, vice-president and secretary of Prep...

Athletically speaking, they won the hockey cup and gave stiff competition in all sports with such athletes as Patsie Hornbeck, Gail Slack, and swimming champ, Barbara Nelson. Agoras Joanne Jeans and Sheila Kennard have maintained the club’s tradition of high scholarship.

The Agoras emerged from “The Fire” and the year as one of the most active and popular clubs on the campus.
Dark-haired, fashionable Jeanette Worsley and energetic Miss Schroer have led the A. K.'s through a year of fun and accomplishment. The A. K.'s and the campus as a whole rate "Holiday Inn" as a great success, but the club wisely kept the "Heartbeat Dance" to themselves.

Intellectuals include Phi Theta Kappa's Pris Bailey, (treasurer of that organization), Bomar Cleveland, Shirley Corrough, and Grace Waldrop. They are represented on the athletic field by Doris Hosmer, Pat Wylder, and Nancy Pippin; and in other campus organizations by Bun Breese, president of Prep Council; Nancy Broyles, president of...
Senior Prep class; Bomar Cleveland, president of French Club; Shirley Corrough, leader of Captivators; Sue Zeek, treasurer of French Club; and Pris Bailey, an editor on all three publications.

The A. K.'s have given sparkle and life to this year as a remembrance for themselves and all of us.
Lovely Gene Allen Kennedy and Miss Ordway, a sponsor who spells personality, have hacked their club in a year of activity and progress. They were the proud winners of the scholarship cup at the end of the first semester, and combined their scholastic ability with leadership in the Preparatory school.

The “A” of Angkor could stand as well for ability and achievement.
"Stardust" was the theme that ushered in the year for the Anti-Pans with their fall dance. A visit to the Crippled Children's Home at Christmas, a faculty dinner, a week end at Idaho Springs, and complete redecoration of the club—all were planned and executed under the capable direction of President "Andy" Anderson and Miss Benton.

Answering roll call at each meeting were Bette Pierce, Pat Cooley, Susan Bowers, Judy Wheeler, and Catherine Tetzlaff, Phi Theta Kappas; outstanding athletes were Les Scharff, president of Turl and Tanbark and treasurer of the Athletic Association; Dolly Birckhead, winner of the treasured tennis trophy; Marilyn Farmer, tennis manager of the Athletic Association; and Evelyn Allen. Other offices held by members of the club were: Bette Pierce, editor of Chimes, and her assistant editor, Jane Irwin; Beverly Teel, chapel proctor; and Marilyn Whitney, proctor of Founders.

All of Anti-Pan's attractions sum up to one thing—an interesting, well-balanced, spirited club, versatile but close-knit.
The Aristons have demonstrated their interest in campus affairs by producing leaders in every field. Charming Betty Bruce Cate and Mrs. Mann have tirelessly directed the club throughout the year.

Excelling in scholarship are Barbara Bainbridge, Mary Jane Capps, Margaret Hayes, Sara Rodes, Laurel Cuff, Jean Horner, and Ann Cullen Rich, and leading the Aristons on the athletic field are "T" Mizell, Emme Osment,

Talent, leadership, and scholarship combine to make this club one of the most popular of the day-student clubs.
Versatile Mary Lou Phelps and magnetic Miss Fuller were before the campus all year long leading their club into many activities, including slumber parties, trips to Melrose, and a Halloween Party, all of which were highlighted by a campus minstrel show and a Christmas buffet supper for the faculty.

On the campus are found such outstanding D. V.'s as the publications editor’s right-hand girl, Pat Shillings, president of the Chemistry Club and vice-president of the “Y,” Betty Simpson; president of the Spanish Club, Mary Lou Phelps; and circulation manager of Chimes and a feature writer on the Hyphen. Margaret Ann Funk. D. V. “brains” are Phi Theta Kappas Pat Windle (secretary of that club).
Mary Ruth Hale, Harriet Ashbrook, and Betty Neil Shepard. Athletes who led them through the sports' tournaments and brought home the bowling cup are Pat Tanton, Alma Edmonds, Audrey Horst, and Mary Korty.

So the Del Vers live, work, and play, a mighty mixture and an ever-progressing, ever-interesting club.
Winning the Prep hockey and basketball cups highlighted the year for the Eccowasin Club. The efficiency of Emma Cain, coupled with that of Miss Saunders, led the club through a successful and happy year.

Starring on these winning teams were Mary Ellen Coverdale, Lucy Graves, and Mary Catherine Woolwine, and Eccowasins found in other campus organizations were Julia

Miss Louise Saunders, Sponsor
Emma Cain, President
Merrick, president of the Sophomore class; Ann Hamilton, treasurer of the Junior class; Mary Catherine Woolwine, sergeant at arms of the Junior class; Betty Tucker and Mary Ellen Coverdale, captains in TOPS; Nan Haile, secretary and treasurer of Penstaff; and Mary Ellen Coverdale, vice-president of Day Student Council.

Next year will find the Eccowasins still striving to maintain their ideals which have spelled success this year.
Dynamic Jane Knabe set the tempo for the F. F.'s. Combined with the efficient guidance of Miss Lee, the club found leaders to be respected and followed as they hit a new high in club spirit and cooperation.

Added to the usual club fun of slumber parties and trips to Melrose were the Sunday night supper party for the faculty, bridge and ping-pong tournaments, the spring picnic, and their clever dance inspired by the song, "It's Been a Long, Long Time."
The F. F.'s were proud of their president when she presided over the February 22 festivities as George Washington and of "Sparkie" Hooper, associate editor of Hyphen. They cheered athletes Evelyn and Gertrude Furey, Martha Durham, and Johnny Johnson, and applauded Phi Theta Kappa members Mary Lou Martin, Idanelle Stone, Barbara Hanson, and Jane Knabe.

The friendly, fun-loving F. F.'s are capable leaders as well as devoted followers of all phases of W.-B. life.
Red-haired “Dorget” Hall, loyal Mrs. Almond, pink loveseats, and an indomitable club spirit—these are the essentials of the Osiron Club.

Within their membership are both “brains and brawn”—the former represented by Nelle Sellers, Martha Morris, Mary Frances Russell, Jackie Woods, and Betty Latham, members of Phi Theta Kappa; the latter by Betty Tarbet, Nancy Stern, Vera Mew, Jane Hart, and Betty Asquith.
The Osirons are proud of Nelle Sellers, president of Student Council; Jane Hart, proctor of Fidelity; and Dorothy Hall, president of the Speech Club.

Their social life was highlighted by “that wonderful dance,” and included a picnic with the Del Vers, bowling at Melrose, and a “Kid Party” given for the T. C.’s.

Not often is found a group of girls so cooperative, willing, intelligent, and full of club spirit as the Osirons.
Petite "Bibbit" and vivacious Mrs. Harbor have seen their club come through the year with the rose and gray flying high. We hail the P. T.'s, proud possessors of the fall riding cup and the swimming cup.

Outstanding P. T.'s include class presidents, Nancy Hornaday and Evelyn Dickenson; vice-president and secretary of the Student Council, Janet Neumann and Betty Hoover; chapel proctor and Senior-Middle secretary, Beverly Stevens; sergeant at arms of the Senior-Middle class, Jo Harriman; secretary of the Chemistry Club, Harriet Zinck; day student treasurer of the Senior class, Joyce Sessoms; poetry editor of Chimes, Ann Marshall.
High point girls in all sports were Ann Marshall, Nancy Hornaday, Betty Hoover, Harriet Ashley, Nancy Moss, Carol Cannon, swimmer Nancy Peacock, and equestrienne Bobbie Allen. The high-average girls were Nancy Hornaday, Ophelia Strum, Ann Marshall, and Janet Neumann.

The P. T.'s have pride in their school and in their club, and working together they constantly strive to make each better.
The spotlight was on the T. C.'s, led by K. D. Durham's energy and Miss Newhall's able direction, at their "April Showers" dance, Easter breakfast for the faculty and club slumber and bowling parties.

K. D. herself was the spark of her club's teams, which were composed of such athletes as Ann Bell, Carolyn Graham, Eileen Springstun, Margaret Frogg, Sarah Haden, and Susie Fletcher. Phi Theta Kappa, as well as T. C., was proud to claim Katherine Dougher, Katherine Chesick, Mary Jo Watson, Charlotte Evans, and Anna Marie Hughes.

Loyalty and willingness to take a part in any activity, either for one’s school or club, is an outstanding quality to hold always. The T. C.’s, an impressive group of girls, work together toward this goal.

The charm of Ellen Warner and the capability of Mrs. Hall have complemented the vitality and eager cooperation of the members of the Triad Club.

This enthusiasm has carried over into campus life with such leaders as Mary Ann Hailey, president of the Beta Club; Milbrey Jackson, Junior-Middle day student treas-
CLUB

Ellen Warner, president of the Penstaff Club. Spurring the teams on to victory were Milbrey Jackson and Evelyn Paty, while Ann Frederick set an example in scholarship.

In the past year the Triads have maintained and added to their reputation as leaders among the day students.
Tri K

We "stand up and cheer for dear old Tri K" because week by week, day by day, they have continued to prove themselves to be an integral part of campus life. With such true leaders as Joy Roberts, who combines beauty with executive ability, and Miss Morrison, a never-failing inspiration to her girls, the Tri K's display their usual win-or-lose good spirit.

The club roll resembles a galaxy of campus officers with Libby Gift, president of Phi Theta Kappa; Leo Morrison, president of the Athletic Association; Carolyn Buie, editor of MILESTONES, as well as Martha Washington; Carolyn Kelton, president of the German Club; Emmie Jackson, president of the Day Student Council; Idy Turner and Peg Loving, secretary and treasurer of the Senior class; Jane Faulk, boarding treasurer of the Junior-Middle class. Always excelling in athletics, the Tri K's this year added the basketball trophy to their mantel. The King of Hearts, Florida Faulk, augmented by Gloria Reif, Margaret Morrow, Betty Everett, Peg Loving, and Martha Belew, shone on the athletic fields.

At the end of the year the Tri K's looked back upon the thrill of winning the first semester scholarship cup, the faculty breakfast, the X. L. picnic, and the week-end trip in the spring.
Originality, the keynote of the X. L.'s, was underlined when the Rose Room opened for business to the Tri K's, and was given impetus by President Bobbie Faust and Miss Chambers.

On their social calendar for the year we find their Thanksgiving tea for the faculty, trips to Melrose, the X. L.-Tri K dance, and their Sunday excursion to "Idlewild." Starring in sports were M. F. Jones, Rowene Zick, Selene Elliston, Ella Clark, Virginia Hopkins, Audrey Mount, Betty Gaston, and Nancy Flagg. On academic honor rolls were Jane Braley, Selene Elliston, Frances Newport, Emma Lou Wivell, and Jene Baumgartner.

Campus as well as club leaders included versatility-plus Kay Keggin, president of the Art Club and artist-writer for the publications; Ruth Jenkins, president of the Home Economics Club; Frances Newport, associate editor of Hyphen; and Marilyn Parnell and Joyce Arnett, proctors of Hail and North Front.

Boundless energy and enthusiasm characterize this closely-knit club whose influence has been felt all over campus this year.
Grand Finale
FAG DAY

From very early morning until late afternoon September 27, pandas, howling babies, pirates, and other fantastic creatures frolicked on Ward-Belmont campus. It was Fag Day, the traditional day on which pledges fulfilled the absurd tasks given them by their club sisters.

A stranger looking on would know this to be a special occasion, for only once a year does the campus become a riotous playground at seven o'clock in the morning. Fags scurried to their big sisters' rooms to wake them by chanting fag songs—"I'm glad to be..." Before the pledges could earn a few drops of orange juice served to them in their place of honor, the dining room floor, they made beds, played leap-frog, pushed eggs up the middle walk with their noses, and bowed on bruised knees to the old girls.

After a hard day's work, weary fags staggered down to the clubhouses in the late afternoon to perform their last servile acts as initiates.
INTER-HALL PARTY

The Inter-Hall Party began a spirited year of competition when, with shouts and screams, the Senior “Thoroughbreds” of Pembroke Downs came in lengths ahead of the Preppies from Oz, the “Belles from Hail,” the “Founders Flames,” and the Fidelity “Westerners.” As exciting as all the games of badminton, volleyball, ping-pong, and basketball—the things which brought down the house—were the faculty train and their gay nineties calisthenics.
Senior Week

After a week of ceremonies, parties, white dresses, and fried chicken, 1945's Mids officially became the Senior Class of 1946.

On Monday of the first week in October "The Bells of Ward-Belmont" accompanied the Seniors' march into the chapel for the traditional Senior Recognition Day. The five-point platform of ambition, knowledge, friendship, generosity, and religion presented by the class officers was accepted by Dr. Provine in his recognition of the class.

A rest from white came Tuesday night, when, in jeans and plaid shirts, the Seniors devoured fried chicken and brownies at their picnic on the athletic field. By the next morning they had regained the dignity of their seniority as they heard Mickie Purcell, speaker for the class, set forth its goal, "To transmit this school not less, but greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

The faculty was entertained with a coffee Thursday night, and on Friday a portrait of Dr. Joseph E. Burk, former president of Ward-Belmont, was presented to the school by the Senior Class, faculty, and alumnae.

When the week's festivities were over, a Senior Class, realizing the responsibilities as well as the glory that came with their standing, went forward into a new year.
Transforming the gym from its barren conventionality to anything from an English Pub to a three-ring circus arena is all in a day’s work for Ursury and the “originality kids” who dream up the jeans and plaid-shirt parties.

“Tonight we’re having a party—a publications’ party—we hope you all have fun,” welcomed the student body to the Black Quill, the English Pub owned and operated by the three campus publications. As singing hostess, Mickie Purcell introduced “Poor Little Yellow Bird” Webster, Jeanne DeMoss and “Red” Smith in the marionette show, “No, No, a Thousand Times No,” and the dancing Pub-ettes.

“The greatest show on earth” was presented in a cloud of sawdust, peanuts, and excitement by the Athletic Association. There were thrills galore under the “big top”—Purcell and Shillings on the high wire; bareback rider K. D. Durham; the “Famous Four” tumblers; and a menagerie of monkeys, seals, elephants, and leopards.

Among the sensational inter-club parties was the night the X. L.’s lifted the “Rose Room” from the off-limits list and entertained the Tri K’s with the “Ink Spots” and ginger ale cocktails. Farm parties, kid parties, minstrel shows, and picnics all added up to a year of fun. It was SO fine!
King and Queen of Hearts were greeted by gasps of surprise and approval as they marched through the dining room to their throne to reign over the Valentine festivities. Petite Joan Ryerson and popular Florida Faulk were selected by the members of the Y.W.C.A. Cabinet, who arranged the decorations and musical program for the formal dinner.

On February 22 Acklen Hall was filled once more with candlelight and the swish of crinoline as pages and colonial costumed Seniors preceded gracious Carolyn Buie and stately Jane Knabe down the hanging staircase into the dining room for the banquet in their honor. These two girls were selected by the student body for one of the loveliest honors Ward-Belmont can bestow—the privilege of portraying the roles of George and Martha Washington.

Later, before the smiling President and First Lady, students of the Dance Department presented "The March of the Wooden Soldiers" and "Valsz Brilliante."

The events of the evening were climaxed when the Seniors wove again the intricate patterns of the eighteenth century minuet.
White curtains in the gym, ivy, soft lights and the stage is set for formals, music, and glamour for a night. While the Preps danced with Castle Heights at Christmas, Mids and Seniors looked forward to peacetime proms. Privates, ensigns, and new civilians in the unfamiliar tuxes, "May I have this dance?" sandwiches and comparing notes in the smoker afterwards—yes, the war is really over!

The letters marked in red on the calendar meant formal occasions at Ward-Belmont. Jack-o'-lanterns and witches, turkeys, frilled hearts, American flags, candles, spring flowers, and club colors—each marked a special memory, a continuation of treasured tradition.
Preps took the spotlight on April 26 when Juniors and Junior-Mids battled in annual interclass competition. Following a parade which featured the Junior Olympics and the Junior-Mid Wonders from Wonderland, the teams began active combat on the baseball diamond. Sparking the Junior team, Nelson, Sugg, and Durham led the Olympics to a 24-10 victory over the "Wonders."

On the archery range the Juniors continued their winning streak, narrowly defeating the Junior-Mids. Star "archers" were Junior-Mids "Barky" Bible and Lee Boatwright, and Juniors Evelyn Allen and Anne Frederick. The tennis match also ended in triumph for the Juniors when Jean Ward defeated Justine Winn in the singles and Barbara Nelson and Cynthia Mizelle won over Mary Coble and Mary Ellen Coverdale in the doubles.

The climax of the day arrived when, after a picnic in Club Village, Dr. Provine presented the cherished cup to Dot Hailey, president of the Junior Class.
Senior-Senior-Middle Day

On April 27 at 7:00, Mids and Seniors burst from their dorms, armed with tape, string, scissors, and trailing decorations to transform the campus into two rival camps; the Mids revealed their crusade against the Senior Sultans and Sheiks of the Arabian Nights.

The crusaders led the parade with “Dickie the Lion Headed,” followed by Robin Hood and his Merry Men, characters from the Canterbury Tales, monks, and other famed characters from the Middle Ages. “Make way for the Princess Scherazade!!” and the spectators watched as the Flying Carpet, Ali-Baba, Aladdin, Harem Dancers, and the Sultan Haroun-el-Raschid, flanked by the turbaned team, marched past; a colorful reincarnation of the fabled Arabian Nights.

Pageantry took second place when the determined teams took to the field in the final contests to determine the winner in the year-old class rivalry.

Spurred on by the Mid tennis victory, the Seniors came out ahead in baseball, archery, and a hard-fought water polo contest.

As twilight fell, the Seniors, in the traditional yellow and white and singing the Senior Song, entered Club Village. After the picnic supper Dr. Provine read the points accumulated by the classes in the year’s Senior, Senior-Mid events. The jubilant Seniors returned the hard-won cup to Pembroke Hall—a glorious climax to a glorious day.
Magnolias, the fluttering ribbons on the May Poles, the riotous color of the folk dances form a springtime backdrop for the May Queen, her attendants, and court of College and Prep Seniors.

Following the procession, came the Queen, Joy Roberts, followed by her preparatory school attendants, Gene Allen Kennedy and Mary Jane Stuckey, college attendants, Emmie Jackson and Mary Graham Hull, and Honor Maid, Betty Asquith—all in two royal coaches. This annual spectacle was witnessed by hundreds of visitors, thrilled by the beauty of May Day from the opening moments to the climax of the celebration; the May Pole dance which wove the bright strands of Ward-Belmont’s most striking pageant into a triumphant whole.
May Day
"We pledge now our love for our old

With these words the Seniors of 1946 sang good-bye to the school, their class, and the girls who will succeed them. As the Senior class sang together for the last time, each girl remembered other songs—"The Senior Class Is Out for Victory," "Shinimini," "The Sheiks of Araby," and "Blues"—the musical milestones of her Senior year.

Following the Seniors' tribute to the Mids, the Mids took their places before the white pillars of the Academic Building to sing to the class who had gone before them. As the chimes rang out over the campus, both classes joined in "The Bells of Ward-Belmont." Thus ended one of Ward-Belmont's most cherished traditions and one that will long remain with each girl.
As each girl marches from the Academic Building up the walk, past the fountain, under the magnolia trees toward Acklen Hall, the memory of two years comes crowding back with a moment or a group of persons in sharp relief. Walking out with the cherished diploma in hand and searching the crowd for a face and a smile which will reflect what she is feeling, she leaves the chapel for the last time to "The Bells of Ward-Belmont."

Yet graduation is not only a backward glance, but also a look into the future. On June 4 each Senior finds an end and a beginning—an end to the actuality of life at Ward-Belmont and beginning of life which will reflect these experiences, this knowledge, these ideals.
